

TRADE IS CHARGED TO CORRIE FACTION
TO GET BLACK VOTE

Negroes and Part of G. O. P. Vote Offered by Tom Blodgett in Return for Future Support, Alleges W. B. Russell.

QUITS CORRIE'S RANKS
AFTER HEARING OFFER

"Until This Time I Did Not Realize How Fatal Blodgett Alliance Would Be to Good Government," He Says.

Stingingly arraigning the Corrie faction and Tom Blodgett, a republican politician, W. B. Russell, a painter, of 53 Kennedy street, charges an eleventh hour attempt to trade the negro vote, controlled by Blodgett, to the Corrie faction in an attempt to defeat Asa G. Candler, nominee for mayor.

Therefore, Mr. Russell, at the last moment quit the Corrie ranks and became a Candler supporter. A communication to the voters of Atlanta explains fully his reasons for making the change.

In his letter Mr. Russell says: "The last straw came when Tom Blodgett, a leader of the black portion of the republican party, stated at those meetings (the meetings which he had attended as a supporter of Corrie) that he proposed to deliver to Mr. Corrie the solid negro vote and a large portion (his following) of the republican vote."

Blodgett's Condition. "It was stated," declares Mr. Russell, "that if he did this, he would expect, by way of reciprocity, that all the supporters of Mr. Corrie would in future elections, even by failing to participate in the primaries, join together with his crowd and take an active part in all our municipal elections."

Mr. Russell declares that he was active in attempting to get C. W. McClure to announce for mayor and later drifted into the Corrie ranks and that he was induced to act as he did by misleading statements made to him.

The charge that such an attempt has been made by the two parties to unite in their effort to throttle the vote of the democrats and deliver the reins of government into the hands of Blodgett's followers was confirmed Tuesday when a number of negro voters called The Constitution to investigate the promises made to them by anti-Candler campaigners.

W. B. Russell's Letter. Mr. Russell's letter, which amply explains itself, follows:

To the Voters of the City of Atlanta: I have lived in the city of Atlanta, off and on, for the past fourteen years. My father was a confederate soldier and a member of the Seventh Georgia cavalry, and I was born and have always been a staunch democrat.

Under a misapprehension of the true conditions and being misled by statements made to me, I have been a supporter of the Corrie faction, even to the point of being a member of the Corrie faction.

It was stated that if he did this, he would expect, by way of reciprocity, that all the supporters of Mr. Corrie would in future elections, even by failing to participate in the primaries, join together with his crowd and take an active part in all our municipal elections.

Tenth Ward (A)—No. 523 Lee street.
Tenth Ward (B)—No. 227 Stewart avenue.

The regular city election will be held today. The polls will open at 7 o'clock this morning and will close at 7 o'clock tonight. Asa G. Candler, nominee for mayor, will be opposed by A. M. Corrie.

This is the only contest in which the Candler forces held a final meeting at the headquarters over the Piedmont theater Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting was attended by about 300 enthusiastic committeemen who were given final instructions on their work at the various polling places today.

A record vote for Candler was predicted. On the eve of election, canvasses of the various wards of the city give a straw ballot which leads to a prediction of the leaders of the Candler faction of 85 per cent for Candler in the total of the votes cast.

Handsome Majority Wanted. "This seems certain," stated Forrest Adair, chairman of the campaign, "but we do not want to get over-confident. There is not the slightest doubt of Mr. Candler's election, but unless the workers keep busy all day we may miss the handsome majority which we should have and which we expect."

In every ward of the city committees have been formed which, under the leadership of a chairman, will comb the respective wards. The campaign committee, under the leadership of Mr. Adair, has left no stone unturned in their campaign for a great vote.

At the meeting Tuesday Mr. Adair called for volunteers who were willing to stay at their posts at the polling places from the hour of opening until the hour of closing. More responses came than there were places to be filled.

With the men stationed at the various booths, three squads of business men of Atlanta will be going from one voting place to another all day throughout the city to distribute campaign literature, and in other ways aid in the work of the local committees.

Following the work at the polling places during the day there will be another meeting of the committees at the headquarters Wednesday night immediately following the closing of the polling places. Here they will await the returns of the election.

Special Attention to Polling Place. Special attention was called Tuesday to an error recently made in announcing the polling place for the Third Ward. The booth is located at 35 Central place, instead of 55 Central avenue, and may be found at the intersection of Central place and Fraser street.

Referring to the various wards calling volunteer workers, some one noticed that Mr. Adair made no mention of Eighth ward, even by name. He called to this seeming oversight and Mr. Adair said that he had just received word from some of the voters of that ward that they would take it as a personal insult if any particular workers were sent out there to aid in the election.

While all workers for Mr. Candler in this ward," it was declared, "and we don't need any outside assistance." In the primary Mr. Candler received a majority of 20 to 1 in the votes cast in that particular precinct.

Among those at the hospital were Representatives Frank Park, William Schley Howard, Carl Vinson, J. W. Wise and Charles R. Crisp. Senator Hoke Smith called during the afternoon to inquire and hundreds of messages of sympathy came in over the telephone.

A blood clot which formed in one of the veins of the neck, paralyzing the entire left side, was the cause of Mr. Tribble's astonishingly sudden collapse.

Several hours after Mr. Tribble was stricken he lapsed into unconsciousness, from which he has not yet recovered. He temporarily responded to restoratives, but soon lapsed into a comatose condition.

While alone in his office late yesterday afternoon, Mr. Tribble was seized with acute pains, and with great difficulty dragged himself to the office of his colleague, Representative Frank Park.

John G. Faircloth, secretary to Mr. Park, assisted Mr. Tribble to Providence hospital, where medical treatment was secured.

The arduous campaign of the last year, in which Mr. Tribble was re-elected over his opponent, Thomas J. Brown, is credited by his friends here with his physical collapse.

Miss Clara Catherine Oliver, Known on the Stage as "Little Bit," Arrested Here on Request of Sheriff in Americus, Ga.

"FRAME-UP" CHARGED
BY MEN IN AMERICUS
IN GIRL'S STATEMENT

Denies All Knowledge of Crime, and Even of Knowing About Poker Game at Which It Is Said That the Young Man Met His Death

Miss Clara Catherine Oliver, dancer, whose stage name is "Little Bit," was arrested last night by Night Chief of Police E. L. Jett and Detective C. O. Cochran on a warrant from Americus, Ga., charging her with murder in connection with the killing of Walter Wade, a prominent citizen of Leslie, Ga., on August 17. Wade's body was found ten days later in the Flint river.

Six men have been arrested in connection with this crime. When told by Night Chief Jett that she was charged with murder, Miss Oliver became indignant. She said:

"Do you think I look like I would kill anybody? I didn't try to run off, but came back to Atlanta from Athens when my sister here telephoned me that Detective Cochran wanted me."

Early this morning Miss Oliver, who was at one time considered Atlanta's best dancer, gave out a statement in which she charged conspiracy on the part of several prominent young men of Americus to make her appear guilty of the murder of Walter Wade last August in that city.

"If the police of Americus say I killed Walter Wade, they have fallen for a 'frame-up' I have expected, and about which I have told them," she said. "An Americus man told me that after the murder that I and better look out—that several young men were trying to fix it so I would be charged with the murder. He informed me that there was a signet ring worn by Wade on the night of his death, which was going to be given me to wear so the police would arrest me."

"I know nothing of Wade's murder, nor of any of the police who are charging the Americus police everything about the parties held at Mrs. Elsie Reeves' house. Walter Wade was at a party held there on the Saturday night before his murder, but was not there on the Thursday night following, which it is said, that he was killed. I can prove where I was every minute of Thursday night, and that I did not see Wade."

"On Saturday night, when Walter Wade was at the Reeves house there were present the following: Jesse Williams and Mrs. Elsie Reeves. We all were drinking, and I went out to the automobile and told Walter good-bye that night."

"The following Thursday night Walter Wade did not come to the house, but six men and three girls were present. She was placed in the woman's ward under Matron Hurd."

Orders Girl Held. Sheriff Harvey, of Americus, was informed by Night Chief Jett over long distance telephone of the arrest. "Hold her on the charge of murder,"

CONGRESSMAN TRIBBLE
AT THE POINT OF DEATH

Barely Alive Early This Morning—Blood Clot in Vein of Neck Caused Collapse.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, December 5.—(Special.) Representative Tribble is barely alive at 1 a. m. Mrs. Tribble and his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Tribble Dick, of Atlanta, arrived at 11:30 and were met by Lamar Tribble, Mrs. Gordon Lee and Representative Crisp and rushed to the hospital. There was a deeply affecting scene when the wife and daughter beheld the man who had left home last Friday apparently in perfect health, now past all human aid.

Among those at the hospital were Representatives Frank Park, William Schley Howard, Carl Vinson, J. W. Wise and Charles R. Crisp. Senator Hoke Smith called during the afternoon to inquire and hundreds of messages of sympathy came in over the telephone.

A blood clot which formed in one of the veins of the neck, paralyzing the entire left side, was the cause of Mr. Tribble's astonishingly sudden collapse.

Several hours after Mr. Tribble was stricken he lapsed into unconsciousness, from which he has not yet recovered. He temporarily responded to restoratives, but soon lapsed into a comatose condition.

While alone in his office late yesterday afternoon, Mr. Tribble was seized with acute pains, and with great difficulty dragged himself to the office of his colleague, Representative Frank Park.

ASQUITH RESIGNS
POST OF PREMIER;
BONAR LAW CALLED

If Law Declines to Accept Premiership, It Is Considered Certain King George Will Call Lloyd-George.

POLITICIANS SURPRISED
BY ACTION OF ASQUITH

Coalition Cabinet Will Be Continued and War Management Will Be Speeded Up—Asquith Refused to Yield to Lloyd-George's Terms.

London, December 5.—Herbert H. Asquith tonight resigned the British premiership, which he had held through eight stormy years of domestic and foreign history, and the government crisis found a solution which had been considered the least probable of practical alternatives. The unionist leader, Andrew Bonar Law, was summoned to the palace immediately after Mr. Asquith had departed, and the king offered him the prime minister's commission which he had just accepted from Mr. Asquith's hands.

The court circular announces tonight: "The Right Honorable Mr. Asquith had an audience with his majesty, the king, and tendered his resignation as prime minister and first lord of the treasury, which the king has been graciously pleased to accept."

No announcement regarding Mr. Bonar Law's decision has yet been made, and there are some doubts whether he will accept the heavy responsibility. If he declines, it is considered certain the honor will fall to David Lloyd-George.

The Harcourt of the conflicting political excitement. There were constant comings and goings of the political leaders between Downing street and the government departments. Mr. Asquith consulted with several unionist leaders, including Earl Curzon, Lord Robert Cecil and the Earl of Derby.

Notable absentees from this conference were A. J. Balfour, who is ill; Andrew Bonar Law, J. Austen Chamberlain and Walter Hume Long.

Premier Meets Supporters. In the afternoon the premier met his supporters, including Viscount Grey, Lord Harewood, Lord S. Montagu, the Marquis of Crewe, Reginald McKenna, Walter Runciman, Lord Buckmaster, H. Samuel, Lord Reading and Arthur Henderson. It is supposed Mr. Asquith explained that he was faced by almost insuperable obstacles to the reconciliation of the conflicting interests and intended to resign. "Almost immediately the premier drove to the palace and had an audience with the king."

It now is remarked that when Mr. Asquith was asked in the house of commons yesterday if a food dictator had been appointed, he replied sharply: "I don't like a food dictator."

There is much talk tonight of the possibilities of a general election. Mr. Bonar Law would first form a cabinet, if he takes office, as it is necessary that the government be carried on, and then appeal to the electors for a mandate.

There is strong opposition, however, to any political campaign which must necessarily divert the country's energies from the war work, and the new government may decide to go ahead with the approval of the house of commons only if not of the voters.

Part Played by Lloyd-George. The part David Lloyd-George is playing in the crisis was demonstrated today by the fact that he remained in his office while the premier conferred separately with the liberal and conservative members of the cabinet. Mr. Lloyd-George's policy had supporters in both camps. His strongest liberal friend, Lord Reading, carried messages between the premier's councils and Mr. Lloyd-George's desk. It was significant also that Mr. Bonar Law refrained from attending the conservative meeting with Mr. Asquith.

Mr. Asquith's retirement has taken the politicians so by surprise that they are not yet ready to predict the results. The possibility that he will consent to remain in the cabinet with Mr. Bonar Law, taking the post of lord high chancellor, is discussed.

Herbert Samuel's promotion from the home secretaryship to Reginald McKenna's position at the treasury also is predicted, while acceptance of the resignations of Viscount Grey and A. J. Balfour, which some of the papers backing Mr. Lloyd-George are demanding, is less likely under Mr. Bonar Law's regime than if Mr. Lloyd-George came into power.

The labor party will hold a more important part in any new cabinet. The more sensational London papers have enjoyed three or four days of almost frenzied excitement, with demands and denunciations, often in language stronger than in the memory of the present generation. Events in Rumania and Greece have been given a secondary place except as they were used as a basis for attacks on the ministers.

"The strong man wins," was the poster of the last edition of The Evening News, Mr. Lloyd-George's organ, and "Asquith Stands Firm," was the placard of The Liberal Star.

Asquith Premier Since 1908. Herbert Henry Asquith became premier in 1908.

He Resigns the British Premiership

HERBERT HENRY ASQUITH.

Unable to reconcile conflicting interest in the cabinet, he has resigned. Mr. Asquith has been premier since 1908. King George has summoned Andrew Bonar Law to form another ministry.

WOMEN ATTEMPT TO HECKLE WILSON
BEFORE CONGRESS

As President Speaks Bannet Is Dropped Bearing Question, "What Will You Do for Woman Suffrage?"

Washington, December 5.—President Wilson's address to congress today was marked by a woman suffrage coup in the galleries—the first real show of organized militancy in the capital—and by a great demonstration of congratulatory to the president upon his re-election, in which many republicans joined with the democrats.

After acknowledging the prolonged cheers and applause which greeted his entry to the hall of the house, the president had launched into his address, reviewing recommendations for railroad legislation, the corrupt practices act and had passed to his recommendations for a broader government for Porto Rico. He was just about to begin the sentence: "The present laws governing the island and regulating the rights and privileges of its people are not just," when over the rail of the gallery, where sat a party of woman suffrage leaders, there fluted down over the heads of an amazed assemblage of senators and representatives a silken banner of suffrage yellow bearing in great black letters the inscription:

"President Wilson, what will you do for woman suffrage?"

The suffragists said afterward it was their protest that the president should plead with congress for broader suffrage for the men of Porto Rico while he did not mention their own cause in his address.

Page Snatched Banner. As the banner flapped down the suffragists, which was unperceived, watching the effect. A diminutive page, raised on the arms of men directly under the gallery, grasped the edge of the banner and snatched it down.

President Wilson, attracted by the stir, looked up from his reading, without hesitation or interruption turned his eyes back to his manuscript and continued his address to the end without further demonstration.

Police men and gallery guards hurried to where the women were seated, but contented themselves with watching the page as if to prevent a further outbreak.

When the joint session was over the suffragists filed out unmolested by the police, who said they had no orders other than to prevent any further infringement of the rules of the house. The banner remained a trophy with the sergeant-at-arms.

As it turned out the women had the plans laid with precision and sprung their coup almost on the second. Evidently in possession of an advance copy of the president's address, they had timed the document at the speed camera in the gallery and read and anticipated he would reach the Porto Rico section in eight minutes.

Miss Mabel Vernon, of Nevada, who heckled the president here at his American Federation of Labor speech last July, and who smuggled the banner into the house gallery under her coat today, kept time and gave the signal for the unfurling of the banner.

"Canned" Reports. Before the police could get to the gallery the suffragists' press agent was busy handing out "canned" reports of the affair replete in detail, giving the names of the militants and interviews with each.

The consensus of their opinion was that the wedding would take place today.

UNABLE TO AGREE,
JURY IS DISMISSED
IN POLLARD CASE

With Jurors Standing Six to Six Mistrial Is Declared, After They Were Out for 23 Hours.

After being hopelessly deadlocked for twenty-three hours, the jury in the case of W. M. Pollard, who helped organize the street car employees, was called into the courtroom shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and at the conclusion of a brief address by Judge Ben Hill, dismissed on the declaration of a mistrial.

State authorities and attorneys for the Georgia Railway and Power company aver that prosecution of Pollard would not end, but that there would probably be additional charges brought against him before the present grand jury.

Jury in Deadlock. The jury went into deliberation Monday afternoon shortly before 5 o'clock. At 10 o'clock Tuesday morning the twelve men were summoned before Judge Hill, the foreman, Ed Dunn, announcing that the jurors were deadlocked—six and six—and that there were no prospects for a verdict to be reached. Returning to their deliberation, the jury was called back into the courtroom late in the afternoon.

Foreman Dunn stated in open court that there was still no change in the situation.

"Do you men agree with your foreman that there will be no break in the deadlock?" asked Judge Hill.

"We do," the other eleven responded. "You are intelligent men, and it does not seem that your opinions can be swayed, so I will declare the case a mistrial," said the judge.

Pollard Not in Court. Pollard was not in the courtroom at the time, the crowd being made up mainly of court attaches and newspaper reporters. When jurors were questioned in regard to their opinions, it was stated that a pledge to secrecy had been made regarding the conduct of the deliberation.

Pollard was tried on two charges, a felony and misdemeanor, which charges grew out of the circulation of "The Striker," a circular, it was alleged, was calculated to incite the strikers to lawless acts.

Pollard was represented by Attorneys John Y. Smith, James L. Key, Samuel Hewlett and John L. McClelland, while Attorneys Ben Conyers and R. P. Jones aided Solicitor General E. B. Williams in the prosecution.

Pollard is now out on bond.

Motorcycle Smash Introduces Couple;
Will Marry Today

Two years ago they collided on motorcycles. This morning they will meet before a parson. It all goes to show that love is ever busy.

Two years ago Frank Davies, a former Atlanta newspaper photographer, was riding out Peachtree road on his motorcycle. Coming in the opposite direction along the same road on her twin-cylinder steed was Miss Fannie Cain, a pretty young clerk at a photo-supply shop.

Rounding a curve, the photographer's motor skidded and collided with the motor of the photo clerk. There was a spill, a nasty one, that damaged both machines, and there and then romance entered the lives of the young couple.

Intimate friends of both the young man and Miss Cain were told Tuesday that the wedding would take place today.

WITHOUT A CHECK
TEUTONS CONTINUE THEIR GREAT DRIVE
TO TAKE BUCHAREST

Apparently at No Point Have the Russians and the Rumanians Been Able to Stem the Advance of the Invading Armies.

RUSSIANS ARE STRIKING ON TRANSYLVANIA FRONT
BUT ACHIEVING LITTLE

Indications Are That Teutonic Armies Will Soon Be at Gates of the Rumanian Capital—Serbs Continue Their Offensive in Macedonia and Are Driving the Bulgars.

New York, December 5.—(By Associated Press. From European Cables of the Day.)—In Rumania the forces of the Central powers are continuing their drive toward Bucharest. Already almost encompassed on the south and southwest by the invaders, the capital apparently is being rapidly approached from the west and the northwest, with the Rumanians and Russians nowhere able to stem the tide. The encircling movement to the northwest from the regions of Tergovites and Petrosita is dangerously threatening the town of Ploesti, and the only railroad running from Bucharest except to the east. If the pressure of the Teutons is maintained the indications are that they soon will be at the doors of the capital.

In the northwest, from the Carpathians to the Moldavian frontier region, the Russian offensive is making little if any progress. While Petrograd announces the capture of another range of heights on the Moldavian front, the Russian advance admits the recapture by the Teutons in the wooded Carpathians section of a height south of Voronezhsk, Berlin says the Russian attacks everywhere have been without avail.

On the Macedonian front east of the Cerna river the Serbians north of Dravoski and Budimirtza have taken an additional fortified position from the Bulgarians. The Bulgarians in this region are said to be retreating. Artillery duels and various small attacks by infantry continue on the western front in France and Belgium.

The Austro-Italian and Russian war theaters have been barren of important events.

GERMAN BELLS RING VICTORY.

London, December 5.—Church bells rang all day Monday north of the city, commemorating the successes of the central powers in Rumania, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company.

The Vossische Zeitung says that the Germans are now in possession of 45,000 square kilometers in Rumania, which is double the territory they occupy in France. Between November 29 and December 3, the paper says, 20,724 Rumanians were taken prisoner.

RUMANIANS FAIL TO STOP ADVANCE OF TEUTON ARMIES

Petrograd, December 5.—(Via London.)—This Rumanian advance of German forces in attempts to check the Teutonic forces on the roads to Ploesti and Bucharest, says the war office in today's official bulletin. The capture of another range of heights by the Russians on the Moldavian frontier is announced. Strong counter attacks are being made by the Austro-German forces during the fighting, which is still in progress on the frontier valleys.

The statement says: "Rumanian Front: On the Moldavian frontier, in the valley of the River"

FOOD IS HIGH! WHO'S TO BLAME?

THE REMEDY IS AT YOUR DOOR FOR REDUCING PRICES

So many people fool themselves.

So many people talk about things that are impracticable—almost impossible—suggesting remedies for troublous conditions which are far-fetched and almost absurd—

While right at their door—right under their thumb—lies the remedy they seek.

Let's look at all this kicking and complaining about the high prices of food stuffs. Let's analyze it a little.

How long is the buying public going to keep on kicking and complaining because flour is high—because sugar has gone up—because eggs are almost prohibitive—because nearly every edible has advanced in price?—and yet—

How long is this same buying public going to go right along making mistakes in buying food stuffs—mistakes in over-buying—mistakes in household management—mistakes in its ideas of economy—mistakes by reason of its wastefulness?

Did you know that there was enough food wasted in practically every household of an average of five, we'll say, to feed two or three more people?

No wonder government statistics show that it takes 60 per cent, on an average, of the earnings of every man to pay for food.

There isn't much to all this talk of some man cornering the market on this or that.

All this talk of an embargo on food stuffs is idle—impracticable—impossible. Congress isn't going to do any such thing. It is not going to antagonize every farmer in America.

And why should it?

It cannot place an embargo on one thing alone—that would be class legislation. Then, if everything in the food line were included, where would such legislation lead?

Take wheat, for instance. To many a farmer, in districts where wheat has been a partial failure, the advance in price has been his salvation. To deprive him of this legitimate and natural recompense by class legislation would be an unjust and wholly unwarranted act.

Upon the continued welfare of the American farmer depends the entire prosperity of the country. He, alone, produces—all the rest of us live by trading upon the products of his soil.

If an embargo on flour and wheat, why not on meat, provisions, vegetables, cotton and sugar? Does it not seem absolutely as logical?

Let's stop this line of argument—it isn't sane.

Instead let's put an embargo on the entry of extravagance in our household—let's put an embargo on the cook who bakes eight potatoes when five are sufficient—who browns ten biscuit when six or seven would serve as well.

Let's stop wasting time at meetings to plan protests and boycotts, and spend this time in studying household economics. Let's find by actual test where we are wasting—and where we can serve.

Let's put close and careful business methods in the conduct of our household—just like we do in our business.

Let's learn to buy right—and cook right—cook just enough, and no more.

Why, there's not a woman in Atlanta who would walk in a store and lay down a dollar for a seventy-five cent article, and knowingly walk out and leave her change.

Yet, there are lots of them that carelessly practice just that much waste in their kitchen.

Don't you get the idea that we are talking to the other "fellow." We are talking right to YOU—reader—and you stop and think for a moment and see if we are not telling the truth.

BUY RIGHT—COOK RIGHT—ECONOMIZE. The situation is growing quite acute—but talking and meeting and kicking and protesting is going to do but little to remedy it.

You've got to start the remedy—the real remedy—in your own home.

For years Rogers' chain of stores have helped the people of this section to save. We have been a strong factor in keeping prices down. We are still doing it. It is our "hobby" to help you to save. We don't want to sell you more than you need. We want to sell you just enough. That may sound strange for us to say, but we know that when we have shown you that we can help you to save, that you are going to appreciate it to the extent that you will be a "booster" for Rogers' stores.

We sell on a very close margin of profit. Buying carefully and judiciously at any one of our 74 economy stores—and paying cash—is the greatest saving you can practice.

At least, it's a good beginning if you haven't been doing it.

Just to give you an idea of the savings we are making, here's two items for today which shows you. There are thousands of others at our 74 stores.

We are selling today the best IRISH POTATOES at 44 cents per peck—and we weigh them, and give you full weight, 15 pounds. At this season potatoes are dry and light, and ordinarily you get only about 13 pounds in a peck. But we weigh ours. You get full measure. Isn't this a saving of from 10 to 15 cents?

AND EGGS—Extra fancy, cold storage—every one guaranteed good—at 37 cents dozen. Maybe you are paying 45 or 50 cents.

Let's get together on this saving business. Ninety per cent of the merchandise we handle comes direct from the producer. There's a lot of speculators' profits cut out in this way—and you get the benefit. We are helping thousands to save—are we helping you?

74 ECONOMY STORES

Trotus and south to the valley of the River Dniester, engagements are still proceeding. We again captured a range of heights, but the enemy is showing stubborn resistance and attempting to restore his position by counter attacks.

"In Wallachia fighting is continuing on the roads from Tergoviste to Ploesti and from Titu to Bucharest and west and south of Stoltau. The pressure of superior enemy forces, which are incessantly attacking the Rumanians, the latter are retiring east. Rumanian attempts to check enemy attacks on the roads to Ploesti and Bucharest were unsuccessful.

"The situation in Dobruja is unchanged. On the Black sea our seaplanes made a raid on the village of Kara Murad, north of Constanza. After throwing bombs and firing on a balloon the seaplanes returned."

TEUTONS GAIN AT MANY POINTS.

Berlin, December 5.—(Via Sayville.)—Renewed Russian attacks in the Carpathian forests and along the line of the Transylvanian frontier were made yesterday, but the enemy is showing slight success, it is announced officially. Teutonic troops recaptured lost positions. In western Dobruja the fighting is continuing. The enemy is attacking the Danube army from the front before Bucharest. They are across the railroad leading from Bucharest to Tergoviste. In the Danube lowlands, Rumanian attacks were repulsed with heavy losses and the number of prisoners taken has been increased to 12,500.

The statement follows:—

Front of Archduke Joseph: Renewed Russian attacks on Capul and north-east of Dorna Watra and in the Putna, which are across the railroad leading from Bucharest to Tergoviste. Simultaneously German and Austro-Hungarian troops recaptured by storm and hand-to-hand fighting a height position lost during the preceding fighting, which was an important one. During these engagements, of which some were very violent, there remained in our hands in the Verkhovna mountains, near the village of Stravina, French and Serbian troops, more than 100 men and five machine guns and 350 prisoners and eight machine guns.

Front of Marshal von Mackensen: The ninth army during the pursuit of the enemy broke the resistance of the hostile rear guards and crossed the Bucharest-Tergoviste-Ploesti railroad to the eastward.

The Danube army, after the victory gained on the lower Argechu against numerically superior forces, followed the retreating enemy in this sector. In the victory mentioned the 21st infantry division took an especially glorious part.

"The left wing of the Danube army fought its way beyond this sector. The eastern wing in the Danube lowlands, sangulantly repulsed Russian attacks. The number of prisoners reported yesterday has increased to 12,500. To the number captured by the Ninth army a further 2,000 and to that of the Danube army 2,500 men have been added. The prisoners last mentioned belonged to 22 infantry and six different artillery regiments.

"In Dobruja there have been no major engagements."

Sofia, December 4.—(Via London, December 5.)—The repulse of repeated Rumanian attacks in Wallachia, and Dobruja is reported in the official statement issued by the war office today. The text of the statement is as follows:—

Wallachia: Our march forward continues. The enemy tried an attack on our right wing but were repulsed. Between Turtakal and Cernavoda there was an artillery and infantry engagement. In the Dobruja there was artillery action on the entire front. After the complete repulse of enemy attacks made for three days against our left wing, the enemy today retreated definitely to his former position. Our advance troops captured 1,500 prisoners. The enemy's losses were very heavy. Before Hill 234 we counted 600 enemy bodies. In addition to the eight soldiers and four machine guns, two warships shelled Constanza without, however, causing loss of life."

SERBS CONTINUE TO DRIVE BULGARS ON MACEDONIA LINE

London, December 5.—The Serbians have won further successes in the Cerna region and have reached the village of Stravina by assault, capturing two howitzers, according to an official statement issued by the Serbian war office, dated Monday evening. The statement says that the village of Stravina, 5 miles north of Grunishite, is in flames and the Bulgarians are retreating northward.

Paris, December 5.—The Serbians are continuing their advance in the Cerna region of the Macedonian front, it is announced officially, and have reached the outskirts of Stravina. All the counter attacks of the Bulgarians by the enemy have been repulsed with sanguinary losses on his part.

"During the days of December 3 and 4 our allies captured five cannon and three shell throwers."

"North of Paralevo, Franco-Serbian troops have made progress."

Saloniki, December 5.—(Via London.)—The Serbian war office today issued the following communication:—

"Yesterday our Serbian forces, successes north of Grunishite and Budimista, and carried fresh strongly fortified positions. We captured two German mortars and repulsed the enemy northward. A great number of one my dead were found on the conquered ground, including the commander of the 21st regiment."

SERBIANS FAIL, GERMANS CLAIM.

Berlin, December 5.—(Via Sayville.)—The German war office today issued the following:—

"Macedonian Front: East of Cerna river new engagements developed. Serbian advances near Bahovo and Nonte, on the Moglenica front, failed."

Sofia, December 4.—(Via London, December 5.)—The Bulgarian war office today issued the following in regard to operations in Macedonia:—

"The enemy opened a very violent artillery fire against the heights northwest of Monastir. In the hands of the Bulgarians, the enemy's hostile artillery activity. East of the Cerna there was a weak cannonade. The situation was calm on the Stravina front. On the Struma there was intermittent artillery duel and patrol engagements."

Optical Department Will Be Opened Today By J. M. High Company

One of the most modern optical departments in the south will be opened today by the J. M. High company. During the past week carpenters have been at work completing final arrangements for the opening today. A special testing room and fitting room are added features of the department.

The new department is easily accessible, being directly line the Whitehall street entrance to the J. M. High company annex. All modern appliances and equipment have been secured to meet the exacting demands of the public.

The fitting room merges into the reception room and is arranged with admirable taste for the correct and exact fitting of the lenses to insure perfect satisfaction.

The public is cordially invited to visit this modern optical department of this popular store.

Morning Paper Suspends.

Anderson, S. C., December 5.—The Anderson Daily Intelligencer, a morning newspaper, has suspended publication. It was announced here today. The company was placed in the hands of a receiver about three months ago. The management stated today that it will make a definite announcement as to its future plans within the next few days.

SUBMARINE SINKS STEAMER CARRYING MANY AMERICANS

Italian Steamship Palermo Is Sent to the Bottom by a Torpedo Off the Spanish Coast.

Madrid, December 5.—(Via Paris.)—The Italian steamship Palermo, with 25 Americans on board, has been torpedoed off the Spanish coast.

One sailor, reported to be an American, was wounded by a shell and died in a hospital at Palafuella, Spain, where the survivors were landed. Three others were seriously wounded by the torpedo.

47 Americans on Board.

New York, December 5.—The Italian steamship Palermo left New York November 15 for Genoa and Spezia, and was last reported as passing Gibraltar on November 28. She carried no passengers, but had on board 47 American horse tenders. In addition to horses she carried a general cargo.

The ship was armed, it was said here at the offices of Hartfield, Solari & Co., agents of the Navigazione Generale Italiana, owner of the Palermo. She carried two 3-inch rifles mounted aft.

"These guns," said Mr. Solari, "were carried for defense only."

Besides 853 mules and 163 horses the Palermo carried 1,452 cases of trinitrotoluol, a powerful explosive, and tons of munitions and war supplies.

Before the war the Palermo was engaged in passenger service between Naples and Palermo, Italy, and this port.

TWO NORWAY SHIPS SENT TO BOTTOM.

London, December 5.—Lloyd's announced the sinking of the Norwegian steamships Bessi, 1,452 tons gross, and Draupner, 1,126 tons.

Lloyd's reports that the Russian steamer Pallas is believed to have been sunk. The Pallas measured 1,213 tons. She was built in 1890.

NEBRASKA "DRY" LAW IN EFFECT MAY 1, 1917

Lincoln, Neb., December 5.—Governor Moorehead issued a proclamation today declaring the prohibitory amendment adopted at the recent election to be a part of the constitution of the state of Nebraska to take effect May 1, 1917.

From that date the manufacture and sale of intoxicants is prohibited, but shipment into the state for private consumption is allowed, subject to local regulation.

OVERTON IS VERY ILL IN HUNTSVILLE JAIL

Huntsville, Ala., December 5.—David D. Overton, who was last week convicted and sentenced to hang for the murder of Probate Judge W. T. Lawler, is critically ill in the county jail here. He was taken violently sick last night and doctors tonight expected to operate for appendicitis. The patient also has symptoms of pneumonia.

BONUS TO EMPLOYEES VOTED BY CORPORATIONS

New York, December 5.—Directors of the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company today authorized a distribution equal to 10 per cent of the service of the system for at least two years and whose annual compensation does not exceed $2,500.

New York, December 5.—Directors of the Western Union Telegraph company, at a special meeting today, voted a bonus to employees receiving less than $2,000 a year, 1 per cent of their annual salary to those receiving less than $1,200, and 6 per cent to those receiving between $1,200 and $2,000. Messengers will receive $25 each. The resignation of W. H. Baker, secretary of the company, was announced. Andrew F. Burleigh was appointed his successor.

AMBASSADOR GERARD SAILS FOR GERMANY

New York, December 5.—James W. Gerard, United States ambassador to Germany, returns to his post today bearing the views of President Wilson regarding submarine warfare and the deportation of Belgians for presentation to the imperial government. Before boarding his steamer, the Frederick VIII, Ambassador Gerard declared that he carried no peace plan back to Germany.

Mr. Gerard takes with him the equivalent of one hundred thousand marks which was raised in a Thanksgiving appeal issued by the American Relief committee for distribution through the embassy to needy widows, orphans and war sufferers in Berlin.

RAILROAD LEADERS CONFER IN ATLANTA WITH W. & A. BOARD

Milton H. Smith, Louisville, Ky., president of the Louisville and Nashville; John Howe Peyton, Chattanooga, Tenn., president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, of which the L. & N. is the parent corporation, and John Tye, Atlanta, division counsel for that road, were called into conference with the Western and Atlantic railroad commission beginning at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The two railroad presidents had come to Atlanta to submit a proposal, it is presumed, for the re-leasing of the Western and Atlantic, but not a word would any of the men in the conference have to say bearing upon the future of the line or the pending negotiations, if any there are.

Bigger Revenue Expected. All indications are, however, that the commission is seriously considering the re-leasing of the Western and Atlantic to the present lessee, and that in all probability the negotiations under way are calculated to result in the re-leasing of it on a basis which will bring to the state between $40,000 and $50,000 a year in income during the first year of the proposed new lease, with a graduated yearly increase per month during the remainder of the term of the proposed lease, which, according to the commission's original invitation for proposals, would be for 30 years from December 27, 1915.

Under the existing L. & N. lease of the Western and Atlantic the state derives $35,001 a month as rental of the line.

Following the hour, 12 o'clock, noon, Tuesday, which was set by the Western and Atlantic railroad commission as the final time by which all bids and proposals for the lease, extension or lease after extension, of the state's railroad must be in the hands of the board to be considered, the commission held an executive session.

After a comparatively brief session, the commission recessed until 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and at 5 o'clock again until 9:30 o'clock this morning.

Secrecy Is Maintained. As to what if any proposals were received the utmost secrecy is being maintained and nobody, except the members of the commission, Governor Harris, and Secretary Cohen, knows how many bids were received, and whether or not any were opened, nor has anybody besides those men and the railroad officials in question anything approaching authoritative knowledge as to what took place behind the closed doors of the commission during yesterday's executive sessions.

At the inception of the possible negotiations for the road's disposal, the Western and Atlantic railroad commission, as announced by Chairman C. Murphy Candler, decided upon a policy of strict secrecy to hedge about all that might be done—not through any desire to withhold from the public information the public might desire, and in which every taxpayer of the state is vitally interested, he explained, because the commission desiring to strike the best possible bargain for the state, deems publicity of its action not desirable at this time, since parties to whatever might be done might in some way take advantage of such information.

So carefully has this policy been adhered to, therefore, no one outside of the state officials mentioned, knows even what if any proposals were Tuesday in the office of the commission when the time for the filing of them expired.

The meeting scheduled for this morning likewise is to be strictly executive.

WOMEN ATTEMPT TO HECKLE WILSON

summed up by Mrs. Abby Acott Baker, of the Congressional union, who declared the incident was "expressive of the indignation that women feel at the stupid and senseless opposition to granting the right of self-government to one-half the people of the United States."

The ten women who participated in the coup, as it was called, were: Miss Mabel Vernon of Nevada, Dr. Caroline L. Spencer, of Colorado, Mrs. Florence Easard Miller, of Delaware, Mrs. John Rodgers of New York, Mrs. Anna Lowenberg of Pennsylvania, Mrs. Rose H. Papare and Mrs. Maud Gilbert of California, Mrs. W. L. Colt of New York, Miss Lucy Burns of Congressional union, and Mrs. Townsend Scott of Maryland, composed the suffragist party. The first five held the banner and the latter five acted as guards, prepared to resist interference. The women had carried on their preparations so carefully, however, that none of the hundreds of spectators surrounding them had any inkling of their plans.

The coup, says the suffragists, worked well enough to suit them, even if it failed to draw any acknowledgment, and they plan something more startling the next time. Everybody around the Congressional union who had anything to do with it was keen for another.

Good, Says Miss Paul.

"It was a most excellent demonstration," said Chairman Miss Paul, smiling happily. "Certainly we may in the future adopt various methods not dissimilar to the one we used today to keep congress reminded of our cause."

Miss Lucy Burns declared the suffrage question was the only one before congress today when President Wilson finished reading his address.

"When he finished," she said, "the senators and representatives on the floor turned toward us and muttered one word—'suffragists.' No one said 'Adamson law' or 'Porto Rico.' We feel that we did our duty today and we never should have forgiven ourselves had we overlooked it."

Other members smiled while Miss Burns and Miss Paul talked and all were anxious to know what impression they had made.

"Has the white house issued any statement about it?" chorused a dozen or more.

Up to a late hour tonight, however, the white house had not and there were no indications of whether the president was much put out.

Aside from the suffragist incident the demonstration of welcome which greeted the president was the feature of the joint session. Many republicans joined in applause and cheering which was led on the floor by William Jennings Bryan and some of the cabinet members. It was said to have been the most prolonged outburst of applause since the president began the custom of reading his addresses in person, nearly four years ago.

All the president's recommendations for railroad legislation have been previously published. At the last moment he added a recommendation for passage of a vocational education bill.

MANY BAGS PROMISED TO ATLANTA SOLDIERS

Governor Harris and General Nash Will Address Women Next Saturday.

Following the announcement in The Constitution of the plans of Mrs. W. L. Peel to send a "comfort bag," filled with useful articles, to each of the Atlanta soldiers now on duty on the Texas border, she received numerous telephone calls and promises of assistance yesterday in this work which she has undertaken to make Christmas a happy season for the absent boys.

R. P. Shelden sent a check for $25 to aid in the work. Many prominent women have promised to make bags and to interest their friends. Over 1,000 bags are needed, and it is believed that these will be easily secured.

Mrs. Peel is anxious for the women of Atlanta to understand that this movement is not confined to members of the various patriotic organizations of the city. Nearly every woman in Atlanta is interested in some way, through relation or friendship to some one of the many Atlantians on the border, and everyone who wishes to aid is invited to do so, and urged to do so. Announcement is made that definite plans for this work will be formulated at a meeting to be held in the chamber of commerce assembly room at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning. At this meeting, in order for the women of Atlanta to learn of the true condition of the soldiers and of their needs, Governor Harris and Adjutant General Nash, who have just returned from a trip to the border, will make addresses. Every woman in the city who is interested is invited to attend.

ASQUITH RESIGNS POST OF PREMIER

mer of Great Britain in 1908, succeeding Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman.

Mr. Asquith at once began a policy of reform—parliamentary, social and constitutional—of a radical nature, aided by David Lloyd-George, with whom today he is apparently at odds. Shortly after the outbreak of the war the liberal cabinet of Asquith began to be assailed by its political enemies, mainly on the conduct of the war, and particularly with regard to the naval branch of the British forces. So bitter was this campaign that on May 28, 1915, a coalition cabinet was formed with Asquith, however, retaining the portfolio of prime minister.

The present political crisis in Great Britain apparently had its origin in a similar situation, especially on account of the government's postponement on consideration of the British air board's demand for fuller powers to meet the situation created by German air raids on England; the recent change in the command of the British fleet by which Vice Admiral Sir David Beatty was made head of the grand fleet, and especially Mr. Lloyd-George's demand for a smaller war council, which should have powers to act independently of the cabinet.

Mr. Asquith, in parliament Monday, admitted that there was trouble in his cabinet, and that he had asked King George to permit a reconstruction of it. Just how it was proposed to change the ministry was not stated, but the prime minister said that he desired to make it perfectly plain that whatever method of reconstruction was effected would involve no departure from the policy already announced and pursued by the government since the beginning of the war.

Milady's Fineries

Await Claimants

At Police Station

"Milady" who has lost fancy articles of wear from her boudoir recently, may be able to regain them by reporting to police station today at 4 o'clock and asking for City Detectives C. O. Cochran and Jim Doyal.

Last night these two officers placed under arrest a big, burly negro, whose chief hobby, they say, has been that of coveting fancy articles of ladies' wear. There is probably $1,000 worth of fancy clothing on hand now at police station. It consists of handsome lace and silk undershirts, corset covers, hosiery, "nighties" with lace trimmings, and other articles dear to the hearts of women.

The negro, Fred Williams, is charged with burglary, but the goods must be identified, the detectives say, by the owners before he can be convicted.

THREE NEW SENATORS ARE GIVEN THEIR SEATS

Washington, December 5.—By a vote of 44 to 32, in which thirteen democrats voted with the latter number, the senate today refused to delay seating the three new senators—Kirby of Arkansas, Watson of Indiana and Fernald of Maine. Led by Senator Reed, democrat, with the object of forcing an examination of the credentials of Watson, some of the democratic leaders wanted to defer the seating until after a grand jury in Indiana had finished its election investigation. When the motion was beaten, Kirby, Fernald and Watson were sworn in and took their seats. Debate on the motion was brief.

THE SOUTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY"Southern Railway City" Population 295,000

59,000 employees are on the payroll of the Southern Railway Company.

The Census Bureau calculates that every wage earner has dependent upon him four other persons.

If the 59,000 Southern Railway employees and their families were gathered together into one place, they would constitute a city of 295,000 souls.

$28,150,125.88 was paid to the wage earners of this "Southern Railway City" in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1916.

$248,947,058 was paid these wage earners in the ten years ending June 30, 1916.

All of this was paid by Southern Railway Company.

The Southern Railway needs the confidence of the people of the South in order that it may do justice to its ever growing army of employees and the population of the "Southern Railway City," dependent upon the prosperity of the Southern for food, health and happiness.

Announcing the Pre-Holiday Display of Afternoon and Evening Dresses

The Little Blue Room—with its soft blue carpet and hangings, its great mirrors and white enamel cases—announces with a bit of pride its pre-holiday display.

The work of bringing this collection together has been going on now for some time. We searched far and wide, finding one model here, another there; the result is individuality, distinction, loveliness.

What are they; how are they lovely? Below we hold up several in words, but it is hardly fair, it's hardly possible to put in words these dainty, exquisite affairs of Georgette crepe, velvet, taffeta, satin and lace—to picture the details of their grace, the draping of their skirts, their filmy bodices, their colorings. But a woman and her eyes will enjoy them! They are lovely, and so we invite the women of Atlanta to see them.

Afternoon Dresses

At $25.00—A taupe crepe meteeur, surplice bodice, plaited skirt, the little vestee, the sailor collar and the sleeves are of Georgette crepe; a wide crushed girdle.

At $33.50—A chartreuse Georgette crepe, long plaited tunic, a flat collar and cuffs are edged with seal, a plaited sash.

At $45.00—A Japanese blue Georgette crepe has a loose plaited panel down the back, the full skirt and sailor collar and cuffs edged with a three-inch band of black plush; the peplum belt is braided-embroidered.

At $62.50—A striking affair of dark brown Georgette crepe with wide cape collar and full length tunic, trimmed with several bands of Kolinsky fur. The bodice is brightened with a band of gold lace.

Evening Dresses

At $25.00—A shot taffeta, peach shade, a double skirt, the top one corded and edged as is the bodice with silver lace—the bits of sleeve are of net.

At $35.00—A soft toned orchid net over white, square yoke, puff skirt and bodice trimmed with bands of gold filet lace.

At $39.50—Emerald net over silver, the skirt is a handkerchief-draped tunic; it is touched with silver, and there's a silver lace fall over the waist; ruffled net makes the sleeves.

At $45.00—A pale turquoise radium taffeta, the skirt has quaint straight line side drapery, shirred at the waist, bodice of silver lace, draped tulle sleeves hang loose and full.

FORT VALLEY RAISES
HER SHARE OF DEFICIT

Fort Valley, Ga., December 5.—(Special.)—During the recent presidential campaign Mark M. Mathews, of this city, secured contributions amounting to considerably more than $100. Several days ago he received a communication from John D. Walker asking that he aid in raising the present deficit of the campaign. Mr. Mathews wired him as follows: "Have been out of the city and indisposed for several days or would have answered yours of recent date. Fort Valley will do her part in the $5,000 to be raised from Georgia if I have to remit from my personal friends. Count on us and wire our assessment." In reply to this Mr. Walker wired that $25 was expected from Fort Valley. Mr. Mathews immediately began soliciting contributions and in less than an hour had the desired amount pledged.

OVERLAND DEALERS SIGN CONTRACTS FOR 24,850 CARS

Toledo, Ohio, December 5.—(Special.) Probably the biggest day's business ever done at an automobile factory was the closing of contracts today with 38 distributors in the south and middle western states for 24,850 cars for 1917. These cars are valued at more than twenty million dollars. The southern states, including Florida, Georgia, Alabama, the Carolinas, Mississippi, Tennessee, Louisiana, contracted for 19,000 cars. Western Iowa and Nebraska have asked for 8,850 Overland cars during the coming year, while Utah, Idaho, Colorado and New Mexico want 6,000.

The dealers attending the convention here are enthusiastic over the new line and predict a big year for the automobile industry during the coming season. After a program of speeches by various manufacturers and a big banquet in the evening, the first squad to attend the big Overland dealers' convention will for their homes in the seventy-two Pullman cars.

Dealers from the Pacific and the Philadelphia district, Illinois and Escondido, Michigan, are scheduled to arrive on Wednesday.

DRIVERS OF JITNEYS AND CAR MAN CLASH

Four jitney men and one street car man were arraigned in recorder's court Tuesday. The street car man, Walter Bozeman, it is alleged, was taking the numbers of the jitneys as they passed Grady monument. The jitney men objected to his procedure and J. N. Orr finally began hostilities, which resulted in R. P. House, Arthur L. Bailey and Robert Holley taking a hand in the affair. The jitney men were fined $15.75 and Bozeman was bound over under a $10 bond, charged with carrying concealed weapons.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR FALLING HAIR

Save your hair! Double its beauty in just a few moments.

25-cent "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes, but really new hair—growing all over the scalp. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them, its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful. A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a lock with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance, an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance. Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

Pioneer School Boys Recall Days of Old At Banquet Tuesday

Prominent Atlantans Recite Poems and Pieces of Years Ago Which Marked Friday Recitations in Old Schools Here.

Revering in the memories of days long gone by, enjoying to the full the first meeting in many years as a bunch of "school boys," the Pioneer School Boys of Atlanta met at a banquet at the Healey building Tuesday night. Many of the members were absent, but nearly 100 sat around the three long tables prepared for the occasion.

It was an evening devoted to reminiscences, and though humorous stories and recollections, anecdotes and "recitations" held sway, often a reference to the old days when as boys these gray-haired men attended school in Atlanta brought tears to the eyes of many.

President William Healey presided, with Secretary James L. Logan aiding in the conduct of the meeting. One-minute talks were had from all those attending, and the talks were supposed to be devoted to a recitation of the favorite "pieces" which many years ago used to be given before a schoolroom of sympathetic listeners on a Friday afternoon. Letters, paying beautiful tribute to the old teachers of Atlanta, of whom only one was present, were read from out-of-town members of the organization, and each was received with applause.

Acad Professor Honored.

Dr. Virgil Norcross, one of the principal speakers of the evening, paid tribute to Professor J. A. Richardson, a man who years ago taught the most of those present. Professor Richardson was introduced by Mr. Healey and his talk brought the tears to the eyes of many of those assembled. He prefaced his address by addressing "My boys," and they were his boys—just as they had been long years before when studying in some little schoolhouse in Atlanta they had loved him and worked for him. At the conclusion of Professor Richardson's address a rising vote of thanks was given the aged preceptor by his pupils. Secretary Logan, in speaking to the organization, displayed a silver cup which he had won in 1867 in a spelling contest. He proudly held it before the eyes of his envious schoolmates.

Clark Howell, in praising the organization for the work which it had undertaken, declared that the work of the organization was a gift to posterity.

"Though the scene is one filled with pathos," declared Mr. Howell, "it is one which is proof of a glorious work, a work which should be perpetuated."

Frank P. Rice, a pioneer citizen of Atlanta, declared that he was here before the first brick house was built; that he had seen Atlanta before its devastation during the war and he had lived to see the day of its rise to supremacy. From the pockets of many came scraps of paper bearing the words of his first speech, laboriously written and more laboriously recited, but one of the members was a program used in a declamation held at the city hall in Atlanta.

Old Declaration Read.

The following is a reproduction of the declaration:

Professor Bryer's High School, Friday, December 5, 1916. (Female exercises August 25, '11.) Under Mrs. M. E. Robinson

C. R. South, "Old Friends," S. Terry, "Warren's Address," W. R. Hoyt, "Sempiternity for War," J. J. Toy, "Passing of the Rubicon," H. H. Brown, "Bernardus of King Alfonso," J. J. Connally, "Speech of Patrick Henry," J. J. Connally, "The Alps," J. J. Connally, "Bonnie Blue Flag," A. L. Hendrix, "Bernardus of Carpius," J. W. Pitts, "Sailor Boy's Dream," H. Wellhouse, "The South During the Revolution," "The Power of Education," S. H. Venable, "Catalina's Defiance," J. M. Crawford, "The Romance of the South," A. Clayton, "The South," M. C. Smith, "Spartacus to the Gladiators."

The program was the property of Mr. Wellhouse who had saved it as a memento of the occasion and who presented it to the organization.

Judge Whitford Smith, of the DeKalb superior court, one of the speakers, having attended school in the basement of Evan's chapel. Two prominent out-of-town members who attended were Arthur M. Word, a resident of Rome, who came to Atlanta especially for the occasion, Mr. Crawford, who attended school in Atlanta 45 years ago at Bryn Mawr, James F. Becher, school. The other was John M. Graham, of Marietta, who attended the old school of Jane's, Moore and Richardson, which was located behind what is now the governor's mansion on Peachtree street.

Rev. Alex W. Bealer, of Valdosta, Ga., a former newspaper man, and who attended school here in the same period, entertained the banqueters for many minutes with recitations and stories.

Familiar Pieces Recited.

GREGORY MAY BE NAMED FOR THE FEDERAL BENCH

Washington, December 5.—If Attorney General Gregory carried out his reported intention of resigning from the cabinet he may be nominated by President Wilson as United States judge in the Fifth circuit court of appeals, to succeed the late Judge A. P. McCormick, and later promoted to the supreme court when a vacancy occurs. This plan was understood today to be under consideration by President Wilson.

The Fifth circuit is made up of the Gulf states.

HE WOULD ABOLISH ELECTORAL COLLEGE

Washington, December 5.—Senator Shafroth, democrat, of Colorado, introduced today a resolution for a constitutional amendment to abolish the electoral college and make the presidential term six years, no president to be eligible for re-election.

The amendment would not abolish the electoral vote, but congress would choose the returns in each state, the candidates for president and vice president receiving the highest vote to be entitled to the electoral vote of that state.

Direct election of the president and vice president by popular vote, with a constitutional amendment, was proposed in resolutions introduced today by Senators Thompson and Gronna.

This Is to Be a Christmas of Practical Giving

MORE and more do useful, practical Holiday remembrances gain in favor with the one who receives and the one who gives. The purely ornamental and "pretty" things 'round which the spirit of remembrance clings not for long, are gradually losing caste, for these are days of serious thinking with those who give for true friendship's sake. And so here for today's shoppers is a collection of good gift things whose additional good features can be expressed in a word—usefulness!

No More Quoting of Former Prices in Our Advertising

Truth Is One of the Hardest Things in the World to Discover

In the island of Santo Domingo there is a remarkable salt mountain—a mass of crystalline salt nearly four miles long, estimated to contain nearly 90,000,000 tons. And the crystallized salt is now said to be so clear that medium sized print can be read through a block a foot thick.

The efforts of this store to present the merchandise provided here in words that cannot possibly create a false impression in the mind of our store friends, have crystallized into results through which you can plainly read the fine lines of our earnest purpose to make realities better than promises.

This Is Why Price Comparisons Have Been Dropped

Like the oak leaves that fall from their boughs in winter, so the old policies which we believe to be a detriment to the mercantile profession—and unfair to you—are dropping away, in the new order of things here.

A rigid scrutiny is going on in this store every hour of the day, conducted systematically, to bar out every species of deception in store practices, and any statement that could possibly mislead in store advertising.

Davison Paxon Stokes & Co.

J. R. HOLLIDAY, Constitution Building, sole Advertising Manager for all territory outside Atlanta.

The Constitution's Washington office is at 818 Riggs Building, Mr. John Corrigan, Jr., correspondent.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York city by 2 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had: Hotelling's Newsstands, Broadway and Forty-second street (Times building corner), Thirty-eighth street and Broadway and Twenty-ninth street and Broadway.

The Constitution is not responsible for advance payments to out-of-town local carriers, dealers or agents.

YOUR DUTY TO ATLANTA.

It is a simple but imperative duty Atlanta expects of every registered citizen today—to vote.

No primary contest, however serious the principles involved, ever voiced a more important call to the polls than this regular election.

In the primary contest of a few months ago it was a question of efficiency in municipal government. Today, not only is the white primary itself at stake, but lawlessness, violence and even the use of dynamite have been injected as an issue for the approval or disapproval of Atlanta's people.

The bigger the majority given Asa G.
Candler for mayor in today's election, the more it will mean for Atlanta, for her safety, her stability, her progress. To win by a scratch would be almost as bad as defeat.

Atlanta must not only give Mr. Candler a majority, but it must give him a tremendous majority, for in it will be measured Atlanta's future growth, her upbuilding, her prosperity.

If no more than an assault upon the white primary were involved it were sufficient to call every man to the polls in protest against any attempt upon this foremost safeguard of our institutions.

But there is more than that, there is the security of the lives and property of the men, women and children of this city.

It is not that the candidate opposing Mr.
Candler has so spoken, but nevertheless the idea has gone abroad, and it stands foremost in the minds of some of our neighbors, that the opposition is based upon approval, tacit at least, of riot, violence and the use of dynamite.

It is, in any event, a significant fact that those responsible for this antagonism have taken no part with the good citizens of Atlanta in seeking to suppress this sort of crime or to visit punishment upon those who are responsible for it. That, if nothing else, has laid the foundation for the common belief that the issue of law and order vs.
crime and dynamite is involved.

No one more strongly than The Constitution repudiates the suggestion which would attribute such sentiments to organized labor. The few misguided men who have lent themselves to this unfortunate campaign, and sought to drag others along with them, do not and cannot represent Atlanta's organized labor, which has always taken its firm and proper part in every forward movement for the betterment of conditions in this city.

The personal as well as the civic interest of every laboring man, more than any other, lies in the building of a bigger and a better Atlanta, a city of efficiency, of better service to the citizen, a city that will attract and grow because it has done and is doing that which is worth while.

But organized labor, we are confident, needs no defense against suggestion and insultation. It will be found today where it has always stood, working for Atlanta; and when the election is over we may assuredly point to its loyal and faithful performance of its duty to the city.

While there isn't a momentary fear as to today's result, it's the size of it that Atlanta is interested in! It is a question whether its answer to that insinuation shall be a weak and feeble negative, or a thundering
"No!" that shall be heard from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Civic interest, civic pride, yes, more than that, individual and personal interest, demand the emphatic answer. It can be given but in one way—by the ballot, your ballot!

Stop at the polls on your way down town this morning and vote; it will take but a few minutes, yet you could scarcely do a better day's work.

Atlanta needs every registered vote today.

Don't let yours be among the missing!

THE PLAZA PLAN.

Final disposal of the Western and Atlantic for another lease term will be definitely settled before long.

Whatever Atlanta proposes to do toward securing the plaza must be done within that time.

The assent of the state and of the lessee must be obtained and definite plans for the improvement agreed upon. If this is not done and the lease is finally made and signed without provision for it, the plaza improvement may have to be delayed for another thirty years or more. And if not delayed for so long, it would involve, in any event, the procuring of what would perhaps be very difficult legislation.

All conditions surrounding the property and its disposal make it imperative that Atlanta should go to work now and stick on the job until definite arrangement is made regarding this important improvement in the business center of the city.

The enterprise doesn't involve the state's giving anything to Atlanta. The city is not asking for something valuable for nothing, but is proposing an improvement which will be valuable both for Atlanta and Georgia.
The state will get value received and more, while Atlanta will acquire from it the most far-reaching municipal improvement in all her history.

Certainly the Western and Atlantic releasing commission will be more than ready and willing to hear and entertain any proposal Atlanta may have to make upon this line.

As an intimate feature of the plans involved in the future of the state road, the commission has every reason to go fully into the plaza proposal, and to take such action regarding it as it is authorized to do under the law which created it.

Atlanta never had a better opportunity to build and expand than is presented in the state road situation; and where the state's interests are fully and adequately protected it should be the pride and pleasure both of the commission and of the general assembly to encourage it.

AS TO MOTIVES IN VOTING.

The question as to whether "adamantine fixedness" is preferable to the "ready flop" in politics, finds a basis for discussion in the lesson which Editor Henry J. Allen, of The Wichita (Kansas) Beacon, seeks to read the south, under the caption, "Voting Their Prejudices."

In his editorial following the national election, Editor Allen compares the motives of Kansas and Mississippi in giving their electoral vote to President Wilson. Of course Mississippi is taken merely as typical of the solid south. Declaring that the two states voted for Wilson for entirely different reasons, Editor Allen says:

Mississippi was voting on ancient set traditions—traditions as old as the fundamental discussion between Thomas Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton. Kansas voted without any thought of either of these estimable American progenitors or their ancient quarrel.

Budding Kansas voters, according to Editor Allen, would have been "shocked" at the thoughts of the Mississippi voter. "The Mississippi voter represented adamant fixedness of political thought."

But he continues and draws the contrast by asserting of the Kansas voters: "Theirs was democracy in the fluid state, not the crystal form."

Very well, let's have both brands; it will better conserve the national safety.

The south needs no defense of its "adamantine fixedness," nor of its "crystalline" democracy. It is a position founded upon principle, a fact which makes it difficult for some republican editors and others to grasp and understand. Editor Allen has confused "prejudices" with "convictions"; nor is it necessary to enter discussion of the why and wherefore of those convictions which are well understood, except in certain hide-bound circles.

But what we should like most of all would be to read Editor Allen's views upon the "ready flop." After having supported Roosevelt four years ago, made the race for governor two years later upon the progressive ticket, gone to Chicago this year as a progressive delegate and said more downright hard and vicious things, perhaps, than any other editor in the west about republicans and republicanism generally, Editor Allen swallowed the Chicago treachery, took the stump for Hughes and walked straightway into the jaws of Wall street!

We are inclined to think the Mississippi voter in his "adamantine fixedness," has somewhat the better of Editor Allen, who finds no difficulty in a complete flop overnight.

Anyway, we shall stick to the "crystalline" and welcome the "fluid," which seems to have formed a homogeneous compound of sufficient weight and force to bury the flopsters and the Bourbons in the same political grave!

Christmas may be safe, but it won't be sane if the cost is still a-climbing.

It would help to bring the amateur hunter killing geese.

"The Christmas Children."

Here, in part, is Judd Lewis' prose-poem of the Christmas Children:

"They're thinking of filled stockings and illuminated trees, and the city kids are buzzing like a swarm of stirred-up bees, and they're writing Christmas letters begging for some gimcracks new; and these letters come to father, and he's feeling sorter blue. Fa-ther'd half forgotten Christmas and its stacks of shining toys, half forgotten morning and the lighted tree and noise. So, go tip-toe down the hallway, and go tip-toe past his den, father's counting up the pay-days until Christmas comes again."

To give the dawn a greeting—
To pass the Morning 'round!"

Adamson's Spring Water That Came From Hydrant

(From The Cleveland Press.)

There's a spring a dozen miles up the Potomac where Congressman W. C. Adamson, of Georgia, author of the eight-hour law, gets his supply while in Washington.

One day last summer he called one of his clerks, gave him half a dollar and the water jug, and sent him after water.

The clerk went to the ball game.

After the game the clerk filled the jug at the hydrant.

Adamson was stretched out on the sofa, feeling, he declared, "mighty rotten."

He drank a glass of water.

"Ah," he said, "There's nothing like spring water to brace a fellow up. I feel a thousand per cent better already."

Former Pupil Writes Of Major Slaton's Service

Editor Constitution: There appeared in Sunday's Constitution a story told by Judge Hillyer of the late Major Slaton's war history. The statement was made by Judge Hillyer that he did not remember to what regiment Major Slaton belonged. I simply wanted to say that I knew that Major Slaton belonged to the Thirty-seventh Alabama regiment, and was in the fall of Vicksburg. I am very sure that Major Slaton went from this place to the war. I believe he was brought up in Auburn.

When I was a little girl of 10, I went to Atlanta to go to school. I, of course, had to go to Major Slaton's office to make arrangements to enter the schools there. When he had finished the requisite questioning, after having found out my name, he said,
"Little girl, would you like to see the flag that your daddy fought under?" When I told him that I would, he pulled from a drawer of a table in the office an old tattered, blood-stained confederate flag. He then told me several incidents of their war life, one about when my father was wounded.
The flag that he showed me was made by a woman of this town, and is, I suppose, still in the possession of the Slaton family.

Valuable Georgia Papers Found In Station at Bridgeport, Conn.

Unnoticed, thought of no value, trampled underfoot by the hurrying public at the railroad station at Bridgeport, Conn., a packet of papers a few days ago lay upon the floor until somebody happened to give it more than a cursory glance, to find the documents of great worth, relics of more than 120 years ago, and belonging in the official archives of the Georgia statehouse.

The person, name unknown, who rescued the documents, found them to contain the official seal of the state of Georgia and the signature of Governor Edward Telfair, who was this state's chief executive during 1790-93.
Telfair, and of the then captain-general and commander of the militia of the state—the signatures having been affixed approximately 125 years ago.

According to the report of the find, reaching The Constitution from the Connecticut city, "the papers were trampled upon by the many passengers using the station until someone was careful enough to examine them and turn them over to the proper authorities." The theory expressed in the communication is that "some traveler from Georgia probably dropped the valuable papers."

Governor Nat E. Harris and Lucian Lamar Knight, state compiler of records, however, do not share in that theory.

"This reported discovery," said Governor Harris last night, "recalls to me the return about a year ago of some historic documents of George Washington's time, stolen from the state capitol at Milledgeville by a federal soldier during the civil war.

"One day my mail contained a large envelope from some place up north, and in the envelope were a letter from George Washington to the governor of Georgia of that day, and a copy of an old colonial land grant, conferring title to a portion of the state's domain. Explanatory of these documents was a letter from the sender explaining that following the death of an old union soldier these papers had come into the writer's possession, and he, thinking them of value to the state of Georgia, sent them to me that they might be restored to their places in the executive archives."

The letter explained that when the federals overran the capital of Georgia the soldiers ransacked the statehouse, carrying off whatever appealed to their fancy. In this way, I have an idea, a veritable fund of historical data and documents were lost to the state, and much of it forever. Of course, I turned the Washington letter and the old land grants over to Mr. Knight, who restored them to the historical archives of the state.

"I have no knowledge about these papers purported to have been picked up in Bridgeport, but it is very possible that they are genuine, and got away from the custody of the state in much the same manner as did those returned to me."

"The proper authorities" to whom the papers in question were delivered is not known here. Neither the governor nor Mr.
Knight, at any rate, has been officially advised of the find.

War on High Cost of Foodstuffs Planned by Atlanta Suffragists

Plans for a big mass meeting at the Auditorium on Saturday night at which time Atlanta consumers will band together for a war on the present high cost of foodstuffs, were discussed Tuesday by members of the executive board of the Fulton county branch of the Equal Suffrage association. The meeting was held in the new post rooms of the association, 1214 Peachtree street.

The executive committee discussed the proposed boycott on certain commodities and then got in touch with Mrs. R. M. Striplin, chairman of the Woman's club economic committee. The Woman's club will hold a meeting Friday.

Mrs. Hugh M. Lokey, chairman of the executive committee of the Equal Suffrage association, suggested the mass meeting at the Auditorium on Saturday night. It is probable that this date and place will be settled on Friday when the committee of the Woman's club meets.

At the meeting Tuesday the Fitzgerald bill which provides for an embargo on home food products was indorsed. A resolution favoring a system of public markets for the city was introduced by Mrs. Murray Hubbard and adopted.

It is planned to make the mass meeting Saturday night a big open meeting at which everyone will be allowed to take part. Wholesale and retail merchants will be given special invitations to attend and discuss the situation with the consumers present.

Present at the meeting Tuesday were Mrs.
Hugh M. Lokey, Mrs. Murray Hubbard, Mrs.
Emily McDougald, Mrs. A. McD. Wilson and others.

Charles J. Haden Goes to Alabama To Boost Southeastern Land Show

Charles J. Haden, president of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the executive committee of the Southeastern Land show, left yesterday afternoon for Montgomery, Birmingham, Mobile and other points in Alabama in interests of the Southeastern Land show to be held here next February 1-15.

Mr. Haden has gone directly to Montgomery, where he will address the chamber of commerce at the earnest invitation of Bruce Kennedy, secretary of that organization and a particular partisan of the land show. Mr.
Kennedy has called a special meeting of all departments of his chamber of commerce, and a mass meeting of citizens to be held tonight. Mr. Haden will address this gathering, outlining in detail the plans and purposes of the land show and answering any questions which may be asked relative to it.

Following the Montgomery meeting Mr.
Haden will hold a special conference with Governor Henderson, of Alabama. The governor has already expressed his deep interest in the land show and has pledged it his heartiest support and co-operation.

From Montgomery Mr. Haden will go to Mobile to address the chamber of commerce and the Satsuma Orange company. The president of the Satsuma company yesterday wired that he had called a mass meeting for Mr. Haden, and already 500 people had promised to attend.

Leaving Mobile, Mr. Haden will go to Birmingham, where the chamber of commerce will entertain him and arrange for him to speak to a large gathering of citizens. He will return to Atlanta next Tuesday.

MILLER AND STANLEY TO SPEAK AT LUNCHEON TOMORROW AFTERNOON

W. L. Stanley, recently appointed assistant to the president of the Seaboard Air Line, with headquarters in Atlanta, and Henry W.
Miller, Atlanta, vice president of the Southern Railway company, will be the principal speakers at the first meeting of the railway group—No. 73—of the members' council of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, to be held in the chamber's assembly hall at 12:30 tomorrow afternoon.

A luncheon will be a feature of the session, and to it all members of the railway group are invited, and in addition to these a large number of non-member guests invited from among the railroad men of the city, will be in attendance.

Since this is to be the first meeting of the group since the members' council was formed last spring, unusually ambitious plans have been made to make it an noteworthy one, and the four railroad councillors are spending considerable time in the preparations for it. These four are J. Lee Edwards, W. H.
Smith, H. W. Miller and Horace Parker.

METHODIST CONFERENCE MEETS NEXT THURSDAY

The Georgia annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will convene in Spring Place, Ga., on Thursday of this week to hold its fiftieth annual session.

Bishop Leete, of Atlanta, will preside. Rev.
E. E. Cavalieri, pastor of the East Point church, and Rev. J. H. Elder, pastor of the Ponce de Leon Avenue church, are in this conference, and leave for Spring Place this evening to be in time for the examinations tomorrow.

Bishop Leete will leave this evening for the seat of conference.

Rev. G. W. Ridley is pastor at Spring
Place and will be conference host.

Rev. E. J. Hammond, D. D., also of Atlanta, is the district superintendent for Atlanta district, and will also be in attendance with good report for the district. He will leave tomorrow morning.

OFFICERS ARE NAMED BY PIEDMONT COUNCIL

New officers have just been elected by Piedmont council, of the National union, at a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting.
The officers are as follows:

R. D. Wilson, ex-president; E. L. LaFontaine, president; Solon Johnson, president; Julian Clayton, speaker; John Cooper, secretary; A. A. Nolan, financial secretary;
F. M. Berry, treasurer; W. L. Hubbard, usher;
J. H. Milner, chaplain; W. D. Greene, sergeant-at-arms; Fred Schane, doorkeeper; H.
B. Longino, C. B. McCaughey and W. D. Johnson, trustees; Dr. J. A. Gentry and Dr. Lincoln Smith, medical examiners.
The council meets on the first and third Tuesday evenings in each month at 6:30 o'clock in the Red Men's Wigwam.

LITTLE LOCALS ABOUT THINGS OF CITY INTEREST

Rotarian Frank E. Coffee and his special committee of 23 Rotarians report splendid progress in their campaign to raise money for Rotarian Christmas basket dinners for the Atlanta poor.

The Rotary club has charge for the entire week of the gasoline filling station opposite the Ansley hotel, and the total gross profits on the sales for the entire week will be donated to the basket fund.

Captain Grayson V. Heldt, military commandant at Marietta college, will leave for Savannah Wednesday night, where he has been detailed to take charge of the recruiting station.

A demurrer was filed with Judge Ben Hill yesterday morning in effort to quash
the indictment under which Claude Leather-wood, engineer on the Southern railway, is being held for trial in connection with the dynamiting incidents attendant upon the strike situation.

Judge Hill reserved his decision until this morning at 9 o'clock. The defendant is represented by Attorney Frank Hooper.

At the annual election of officers of Uniform Lodge No. 123, Knights of Pythias, held in Castle hall, Forsyth building, last night, the following were chosen to serve the lodge during the ensuing year: E. C.
Nixon, chancellor commander; L. M. Boyd, vice chancellor; C. A. Reese, prelate; R. M.
Eubanks, master of work; B. L. Owens, keeper of records and seal; W. G. Moore, master of finance; J. B. Scarboro, master of arms;
S. S. May, inner guard; H. E. Linley, outer guard; C. D. House, custodian of property; F. P. Gibbs, trustee, and Harry James, organist.

Governor Nat E. Harris has been notified to date that in six instances last Saturday's election of justices of the peace in various sections of the state will be contested. Returns are rapidly coming in to the office of Secretary of State Philip Cook, and commissions are being prepared accordingly. Commissions are being withheld, of course, in cases in which notice of contest has been filed.

State Superintendent of Schools M. L. Brittain yesterday announced the apportionment of school funds among the various counties for 1917. It is the same as the apportionment for 1916. The appropriation for each of the years—1916 and 1917—passed by the general assembly, was $2,700,000.

Wilson Urges Congress For Speedy Legislation Against Railway Strike

In Annual Message the President Says Adamson Eight-Hour Law Must Be Supplemented—Message Devoted Almost Wholly to Railroad Situation.

Washington, December 5.—President Wilson's address at the opening of the session of congress today was wholly devoted to domestic subjects, principally the problem of railway legislation.

In the hall of the house with senators and representatives assembled in joint session, President Wilson, in accordance with the custom he began at the opening of his term, read his address from the clerk's desk.

The president not only renewed his recommendation for legislation to prevent a nationwide railway strike or lockout before there has been opportunity for investigation, but defended it against the attack of organized labor as nothing arbitrary or unjust and the "justifiable safeguarding of society of the necessary progress of its very life."

Aside from recommendations for the passage of the Porto Rico government bill, the corrupt practices bill and the Webb bill to legalize American collective selling agencies abroad, the president's address was devoted wholly to the railroad situation. The only feature which had not been forecast was the elimination of the proposal that congress give explicit approval to consideration by the interstate commerce commission of an increase in freight rates to meet additional expenditures by the railroads caused by the operation of the Adamson law.

Today the president took the position that "the power of the interstate commerce commission to grant an increase of rates on the ground referred to is indisputably clear, and a recommendation by the congress with regard to such a matter might seem to draw in question the scope of the commission's authority or its inclination to do justice when there is no reason to doubt either."

The other recommendations on the railroad situation made in a special message during the last session which were not put into law were renewed today.

Gentlemen of the Congress: In fulfilling at this time the duty laid upon me by the constitution of communicating to you from time to time information of the state of the union and recommending to your consideration such legislative measures as may be judged necessary and expedient I shall continue the practice, which I hope has been acceptable to you, of leaving to the reports of the several heads of the executive departments, the elaboration of the detailed needs of the public service and confine myself to those matters which seem to require policy with which it seems necessary and feasible to deal at the present session of the congress.

I realize the limitations of time under which you will necessarily act at this session and shall make every suggestion as few as possible; but there were some things left undone at the last session which there will now be time to complete and which it seems necessary in the interest of the public to do at once.

In the first place, it seems to me imperatively necessary that the most possible consideration and action should be accorded the remaining measures of the settlement of the argument and regulation which I had occasion to recommend to you at the close of your last session in view of the public dangers disclosed by the unaccommodated difficulties which then existed, and which still unhappily continue to exist between the railroads of the country and their locomotive engineers, conductors and trainmen.

The recommendations.

First, immediate provision for the enlargement and administrative reorganization of the interstate commerce commission along the lines embodied in the bill recently passed by the house of representatives and now awaiting action by the senate; in order that the commission may be enabled to deal with the many great and various duties now devolving upon it with a promptness and thoroughness which are, with its present constitution and means of action, practically impossible.

Second, the establishment of an eight-hour day as the legal basis alike of work and of wages in the employment of all railway employees who are actually engaged in the work of operating trains in interstate transportation.

Third, the authorization of the appointment by the president of a small body of men, in the nature of a commission, to investigate the situation in experience of the adoption of the eight-hour day in railway transportation alike for the men and for the railroads.

Fourth, explicit approval by the congress of the consideration by the interstate commerce commission of an increase of freight rates to meet such additional expenditures by the railroads as may have been rendered necessary by the adoption of the eight-hour day and which have not been offset by administrative readjustments and economies, should the facts disclosed justify the increase.

For Arbitration.

Fifth, an amendment of the existing federal statute which provides for the mediation, conciliation and arbitration of such controversies as the present by adding to it a provision that, in case the methods of conciliation now provided for should fail, a full public investigation of the controversy, such dispute shall be instituted and completed before a strike or lockout may lawfully be attempted.

And, sixth, the judgment in the hands of the executive of the power, in case of military necessity, to take control of such portions and such rolling stock of the railroads of the country as may be required for military purposes, authority to draft into the military service of the United States such train crews and administrative officials as may be necessary to insure their safe and efficient use.

The second and third of these recommendations the congress immediately acted on: it established the eight-hour day as the legal basis of work and wages in railway transportation and the appointment of a commission to observe and report upon the practical results, deeming these measures most immediately needed; but it postponed action upon the other suggestions until an opportunity should be offered for a more deliberate consideration of them. The fourth recommendation I do not deem it necessary to renew. The power of the interstate commerce commission to grant an increase of rates on the ground referred to is indisputably clear, and a recommendation of such a matter might seem to draw in question the scope of the commission's authority or its inclination to do justice when there is no reason to doubt either.

Enlarging Commission.

The other suggestions—the increase in the interstate commerce commission's membership and in its facilities for performing its manifold duties, the provision for full public investigation and assessment of industrial disputes, and the grant to the executive of the power to control and operate the railroads in case of military necessity or other like public necessity—I now very earnestly renew.

The necessity for such legislation is manifest and pressing. Those who have entrusted us with the responsibility and duty of serving the people are to be doubtful whether they could be created upon an adequate scale under our present laws. We should clear away all legal obstacles and create a basis of freedom without permitting unregulated license. The thing must be done, because the opportunity is here and may escape us if we hesitate or delay.

The argument for the proposed amendments of the organic law of Porto Rico is brief and conclusive. The present law governing the island regulating the rights and privileges of its people are not just. We have created consent to remain any longer exposed to profound industrial disturbances for lack of additional means of arbitration and conciliation which the congress can easily and promptly supply. And all will agree that there must be no doubt as to the power of the executive to make immediate and unimpaired use of the railroads for the concentration of the military forces of the nation wherever they are needed and whenever they are needed.

This is a program of regulation, prevention, and administrative efficiency which argues its own case in every statement of it. With regard to one of its items, the increase in the efficiency of the interstate commerce commission, the house of representatives has already acted; its action needs only the concurrence of the senate.

No Enforced Labor.

I would hesitate to recommend, and I dare say the congress would hesitate to act upon the suggestion should I make it, that any man in any occupation should be obliged by law to continue in an employment which he desired to leave. To pass a law which forbade the individual worker to workman to leave his work before receiving the approval of society in principle into our jurisprudence which I take it to be a gross and unjust principle of the operation of the railways of the country should not be stopped or interrupted by the concerted action of organized bodies of men until a public investigation shall have been instituted which shall make the whole question at issue plain for the judgment of the opinion of the nation is not to propose any such principle. It is based upon the very principle of the right of the individual to work for himself.

There are other matters already advanced to the stage of conference between the two houses of which it is not necessary that I should speak. Some practicable basis of agreement concerning them will doubt be found and action taken upon them.

Inasmuch as this is, gentlemen, probably the last session of the congress which will be called to order, I address the sixty-fourth congress, I hope that you will permit me to say that while genuine peace and satisfaction I have co-operated with you in the many measures of constructive government which you have enacted in the legislative annals of the country. It has been a privilege to labor in such close and friendly association with you, gratulating you upon the completion of a record of rare serviceableness, and distinction.

Three Capital Matters.

Three matters of capital importance await the action of the senate which have already been acted upon by the house of representatives. The first is a bill to extend greater freedom of combination to those engaged in promoting the interests of the nation, and country than is now thought by some to be legal under the terms of the laws against monopoly.

The second is a bill amending the present organic law of Porto Rico, and the third is a bill amending the expenditure of money in election campaigns. I need not labor my advice that these measures be enacted. Their passage is a matter of course, and the manifest circumstances which render their adoption at this time not only opportune, but imperative, would seriously jeopardize the interests of the nation if they were delayed.

Immediate passage of the bill to regulate the expenditure of money in elections may be necessary to insure the immediate enactment of the other measures to which I refer: the amendment of the organic law of Porto Rico, and the bill which before another election in which federal officers are to be filled, but which would greatly relieve the public mind if this important matter were dealt with while the circumstances and the dangers to the public morals of the present method of obtaining and spending campaign funds stand clear under recent observation, and the methods of expenditure can be frankly laid in the light of the people's eyes, and a delay would have the further very serious disadvantage of postponing action until another election was at hand and some special object connected with it might be thought to be in the mind of those who urged it. Action can be taken now with facts for guidance and without suspicion of partisan purpose.

Combines for Export Trade.

I shall not argue at length the desirability of giving a free and concerted effort to those who shall undertake the essential building up of our export trade. That enterprise will presently, will immediately assume, has indeed already assumed, a magnitude unprecedented in our experience. We have not the necessary instrumentalities for its prosecution. It is deemed to be doubtful whether they could be created upon an adequate scale under our present laws. We should clear away all legal obstacles and create a basis of freedom without permitting unregulated license. The thing must be done, because the opportunity is here and may escape us if we hesitate or delay.

The argument for the proposed amendments of the organic law of Porto Rico is brief and conclusive. The present law governing the island regulating the rights and privileges of its people are not just. We have created ed expectations of extended privilege which we have not satisfied. There is uneasiness among the people of the island and even a suspicious doubt with regard to our intentions concerning them which the adoption of the pending measure would happily remove. We do not doubt what we wish to do in any essential particular. We ought to do it at once.

Vocational Education.

At the last session of the congress a bill was passed by the senate which provides for the promotion of vocational and industrial education which is of vital importance to the whole country because it concerns a matter, too long neglected, upon which the thorough industrial preparation of the country for the critical years of economic development immediately ahead of us in very large measure depends. May I not urge its early and favorable consideration by the house of representatives, and its early enactment into law? It contains plans which affect all interests and all parts of the country and I am sure that there is no legislation more thoughtful approval or greater impatience to see a great and admirable thing set in the way of being done.

There are other matters already advanced to the stage of conference between the two houses of which it is not necessary that I should speak. Some practicable basis of agreement concerning them will doubt be found and action taken upon them.

Inasmuch as this is, gentlemen, probably the last session of the congress which will be called to order, I address the sixty-fourth congress, I hope that you will permit me to say that while genuine peace and satisfaction I have co-operated with you in the many measures of constructive government which you have enacted in the legislative annals of the country. It has been a privilege to labor in such close and friendly association with you, gratulating you upon the completion of a record of rare serviceableness, and distinction.

Fort Will Devote Life To Perfecting Cherry

Macon, Ga., December 5.—(Special.) Colonel John P. Fort, who, several years ago, was a prominent attorney in Macon, but who now resides and cultivates and perfecting of the cherry. He has one hundred cherry trees on his place, which he grows and sells to the public. He considers the cherry, which he grows, not only in size and looks, but in flavor as well. Colonel Fort is one of the pioneer apple growers of the south, and he believes he can do with the cherry what he has done with the apple. Hanging on the wall of the place at Macon is a cancelled check for $100 which Colonel Fort received in 1904 as the first prize on apples at Spokan. He now receives a pension of $10 a month from the federal government on account of his service in the Mexican war, which supplies the water in the south Georgia with water.

To Try Honor Bivins At Americus Today

Americus, Ga., December 5.—(Special.)—All preparations have been made for the trial of Honor Bivins, a negro, charged with accessory in the murder of Tax Receiver Gleason in Crisp county last year, on a charge of venue. The case will be called Wednesday morning. It is said that the prisoner is still in the Bibb county jail at Macon, where he has been incarcerated for some time for safe keeping. Some misunderstanding is said to have arisen about the transfer of the prisoner to Americus, but it is not known immediately. Solicitor General Ward represents the state, and E. P. Strozier of Cordele the defendant.

$10,737.75 NOW READY FOR GOOD ROADS FUND

Accruing through the sale of automobile numbers and license tags to chauffeurs and automobile dealers' licenses during November, the secretary of state has turned over to the state treasurer a sum of $10,737.75 to be applied to the roads fund for disbursement during 1917, according to the report yesterday of A. P. Harris, who has charge of the automobile department of the Secretary of State Philip Cook's office. Under the new law all automobile money received by the secretary of state after May 1 of each year are to be disbursed to the roads fund on a road mileage basis during the next succeeding calendar year.

BIBB REFUSES TO PAY HALF OF ROAD DEFICIT

Will Stand Only for Cost of Highway Survey Through Own County.

Macon, Ga., December 5.—(Special.)—The Bibb county commissioners have refused to appropriate $150 to help make up a deficit of $800 arising from the survey made of the highway between Macon and Atlanta, for which Fulton county has appropriated $450. The Bibb commissioners stated that they were willing to pay for the survey through Bibb, but not for that through other counties.

The commissioners have declined an invitation to attend a meeting at Dublin Thursday, at which time it is proposed to petition the state highway commission to begin work as soon as possible on the highway between Macon and Savannah.

The board also declined to endorse the action of commissions of the various counties between Macon and Thomasville, who met in Americus recently and petitioned the state highway commission to begin work as soon as possible in the fiscal year 1917 on a route between Macon and Thomasville.

The Bibb county board would not endorse the action of the other counties because it has already gone on record as favoring the work on the Dixie highway short route first.

Moultrie Woman Dies Just After Returning From Husband's Funeral

Moultrie, Ga., December 5.—(Special.)—A few minutes after she returned home from the funeral of her husband, G. V. Buy Your Christmas Diamonds Where You Are Sure You Will Get Just What You Think You Are Buying

Aside from their beauty, people buy diamonds because they know that their money is not merely spent, but invested—converted into another form of wealth. The pride of show is intensified by the knowledge that the value is there.

The real value of your investment depends largely on the reputation and guarantee of the dealer of whom you make your purchase. If you are absolutely sure the diamond you buy is all it is claimed to be, you are satisfied with its appearance and worth.

There is no mystery whatever in our system of selling diamonds, for the simpler the method the more diamonds we sell. Naturally, we have made it our business to explain our diamond business to people, and to this reason we attribute its constant increase.

We want you to examine carefully our grades, prices and plans under which we sell. You are cordially invited to call at our diamond department and let us show and talk diamonds to you. The talk will be much clearer if we can show you the diamonds at the time we explain the difference in the grades, the methods under which we sell.

Selections Sent on Approval

If you cannot call, we shall be glad to forward you a selection package on approval, and at the same time write you the necessary details.

We pay all express charges on approval shipments of diamonds, and sell on attractive monthly terms if you prefer to buy that way.

Write or call for our booklet, "Facts About Diamonds," which quotes net prices on all grades and gives full particulars of our methods.

Various Forms Of Headache

"It is necessary in order to treat headaches properly to understand the causes which produce the affection," says Dr. J. W. Bell, of Brooklyn, N. Y. "Physicians cannot even begin the treatment of a disease without knowing what causes give rise to it, and we must remember that headache is to be treated according to the same rule. We must not only be particular to give a remedy intended to counteract the cause which produces the headache, but we must also give a remedy to relieve the pain until the cause of the trouble has been removed. To answer this purpose, anti-kamnia tablets will be found a most convenient and satisfactory remedy. One tablet every one to three hours gives comfort and rest in the most severe cases of headache, neuralgia and particularly the headaches of women."
When we have a patient subject to regular attacks of sick headache, we should caution him to keep his bowels regular, which nothing is better than "Actoids," and when he feels the least sign of an oncoming attack, he should take two A-K Tablets. Such patients should always be instructed to carry a few anti-kamnia tablets, so as to have them ready for instant use. These tablets are prompt in action and can be depended on to produce relief in a very few minutes. Ask for A-K Tablets.

PROGRESSIVES MAKE OVERTURES TO G. O. P.

Voice in Party Management Is Wanted by Rowell, Pin-chot and Others.

Chicago, December 5.—Overtures to the republican party for a voice in the management of party affairs in return for progressive support were made today following a conference of Chester H. Rowell, of California; Gifford Pinchot, Raymond Robins, James R. Garfield, William Allen White and Harold L. Ickes.

Permanent progressive advance through the democratic party is impossible, a statement said, in announcing that a national conference of progressives and progressive republicans is to be called within four months, in the hopes of bringing about reorganization of the republican party.

The first step toward providing progressive representation in the party, it was suggested, could best be brought about by giving the present republican campaign committee the functions of the executive committee.

The result of the election has shown that the only hope of victory for any political party in America lies in the support of the progressive voters, the statement says. In spite of certain progressive achievements, the merit of which we do not question, it is clear to us that permanent progressive advance through the democratic party must be thoroughly progressed in organization, leadership and principles.

"We propose to join with other progressives in calling a national conference of progressives and progressive republicans to be held during the next four months.
"An immediate practical step toward progressive representation would be to give the present campaign committee in the republican party organization the function of the executive committee. This committee consists of ten regular republicans and six former progressives. This would give the progressives votes as well as voices in the party council. Nothing less could be accepted as first step toward securing the confidence of the progressive voters of the country.
"The progressives are not supplicants nor penitents. They are American citizens seeking justice and ready to fight for it. The only harmony that is desirable or possible is the harmony of justice."

PRETTY DANCER HELD IN WADE MURDER CASE

The sheriff told Night Chief Jett. "I will come at once to Atlanta for her."
Miss Oliver begged to be sent to America immediately in the custody of an Atlanta policeman.
She is pretty, and 20 years old. She has soft blue eyes, chestnut hair, and weighs about 115 pounds. She was dressed in an old rose dress and silk shirtwaist, with an attractive hat and royal purple cloak, which hung loosely about her shoulders.

SEVEN ARRESTS MADE IN CASE

Americus, Ga., December 5.—(Special.)—The arrest in Atlanta of Clara Oliver, known as "Little Bit," makes the seventh arrest in the Wade murder mystery. Four men were arrested in Americus Sunday, a fifth in Hot Springs, Ark., and a sixth on Monday.
Over fifty subpoenas, it is reported, have been issued ready for serving on witnesses. Wednesday when it is expected the Wade case will go before the grand jury.
No evidence nor action on the Wade murder case was presented today to the Sumter grand jury now in session, but it is expected that subpoenas will be served tomorrow. Solicitor-General Jule Felton was engaged all day in the prosecution of cases called for trial, while on Wednesday he will be relieved of active work before the court because of the Honor Biven case, a change of venue from Crisp County, Ga., to the court here.

Friends, several of whom are connected with the Central of Georgia railway, visited Warren I. Johnson, one of the arrested parties in the case, this afternoon, through interest in his welfare because of Johnson's connection as special agent of the railway.

A day of expectancy was passed with no developments. All the arrested parties are here. Their counsel and the parties interested in the prosecution have declined to make statements.
Mrs. Oliver, several years ago, was considered Atlanta's best amateur dancer. She won a first prize at a big ball at the Auditorium-Armory for dancing when the best amateur talent in the city competed. She was costumed as an Apache Indian.
Since that time she has become a professional dancer, and is known by the stage name of "Little Bit." Recently she has been dancing at a vaudeville house in Athens, Ga.

Rev. J. W. Frizzell Dead.

Washington, December 5.—Word was received here tonight of the death in Belton, Miss., today of Rev. J. W. Frizzell, of this city, widely known through the south as a lecturer and former Congregational minister, after a week's illness from pneumonia. He was 56 years of age, was born at Owen Sound, Ontario. He founded the Ingham Memorial Congregational church here.

BRITISH ACT MENACES AMERICAN SHIPPING

Coaling Privileges Curtailed, and Far-Reaching Consequences Will Follow.

Washington, December 5.—Curtailing of coaling privileges at British ports is threatening far-reaching effects on American shipping, and while representations have been made to Great Britain by the state department, it is realized here that it may be difficult to secure any alleviation of the constantly tightening restrictions imposed by the British authorities.

Officials point out that the right to coal at foreign ports is based almost entirely on international comity, and that treaty pledges in the present instance are not of a nature to make the case entirely clear.

Great Britain's inability to guarantee bunker coal to any vessel not utilizing "in such a way that British or allied interests are benefited," was announced today in a statement by the British embassy in the form of a memorandum drawn up in London.

The British statement says: "His majesty's government has for some time past found it necessary, owing to the shortage and increasing scarcity of tonnage, to make special arrangements at British and allied coaling stations abroad whereby coaling facilities of all kinds should be reserved for vessels belonging to British or allied owners and to neutral owners who have undertaken to utilize their vessels in such a way that British or allied interests are benefited. His majesty's government is, in fact, unable to guarantee that facilities can be provided to other ships."

The announcement is the first public expression of official policy which has in fact been in operation for some time, and which has brought forth protests by this country in several cases. Many American ships have been refused coal, it is declared, and consequently held up for from three days to a week with a resulting heavy loss to their owners.

Will Embarrass Trade.

The general effect of this policy, officials believe, will be to seriously embarrass all independent American trade with non-allied countries. It is declared that trade between this country and the Philippines, for instance, can be conducted only under the greatest difficulties, as Great Britain owns most of the coaling stations along the way. Trade to South America is expected to be crippled also, because most of the coaling facilities in harbors there are owned by the British.

The German submarine campaigns are believed here to be largely responsible for the new ruling, their incursions on world shipping influencing the allies to conserve their vessels and fuel. Not only is there a shortage of ships for the carrying trade, it is said, but a desire to hold as few vessels as possible in carrying coal to various stations abroad.

Officials expect Great Britain to defend the blacklist, on the ground that it is purely internal legislation. While the cases of individual ships have been taken up with the British foreign office, the definite statements of policy contained in today's embassy announcement had not been officially presented to the state department, and in consequence there has been no decision on the question of making a general protest.

VILLA CAUSED TERROR IN CHIHUAHUA CAPITAL

Chihuahua City, Mex., December 5. (Via El Paso Junction.)—This city today is being policed by troops of the de facto government. Houses are being searched for looted goods. Villa's administration here was a reign of terror. Municipal President Holguin and his family were executed. About forty Chinese were slain and other foreigners were killed or injured.

Constitutionalist cavalry is in pursuit of Villa's bandits whose exact whereabouts is unknown. General Arnulfo Gonzales was installed today as governor of Chihuahua.

Great property damage was visited upon many foreign stores and property of the Chinese slain was destroyed. Eight Americans, hiding in the city, escaped harm. General Trevino narrowly escaped death at Horcasitas when a bullet passed through his hat. General Murguia is taking command here.

Order was being restored throughout the city today and a careful investigation of the loss of life and property following Villa's entrance into Chihuahua was being made by order of General Murguia.

El Paso, Texas, December 5.—Charles Elmdorff, the American reported killed at Chihuahua City, is safe, according to a message received from there today. His daughter, reported captured by Villa, is in Arizona and was taken by the bandits.

In response to a message by the state department in the Gulf of the Gulf man embassy at Washington, General Trevino sent an answer from Chihuahua City tonight saying that Charles Ketelsen, the German vice consul there, and other German residents over whom apprehensions have been felt were safe and well in Chihuahua.

DIVORCED WOMAN HELD FOR KILLING EX-HUSBAND

Georgetown, Texas, December 5.—Two confessions in the murder of Frank R. McLaren, formerly a wealthy citizen of Taylor, Texas, have been obtained, the authorities announced here tonight. They refused to discuss the statement further.

McLaren's divorced wife, Mrs. Carrie McLaren; their son, Calvin; the nephew of the woman, Harry McBride, and a negro farm hand, Jim Pollard, are held in jail here after waiving preliminary hearings today on warrants charging them with the murder of McLaren. McLaren was found dead under the wreckage of his automobile on the morning of November 28. The body had been turned almost beyond recognition.

LEADER OF ORCHESTRA WHEN LINCOLN WAS SHOT

New York, December 5.—Colonel William Withers, who was leader of the orchestra in Ford's theater in Washington the night Abraham Lincoln was shot, died here today. When Booth leaped down the back stairway of the theater in his effort to escape after he had fatally wounded the president, Mr. Withers blocked his way. Booth stabbed him in the neck.
Colonel Withers was 80 years old.

Beginning Today, Piedmont
Theater, Mat., Seats All 10c.

Haverhill Goes "Dry," AND ALSO FALL RIVER

Haverhill, Mass., December 5.—Haverhill went into the "dry" column today after seven years of license. The vote was 3,892 to 3,988.

Mayor A. L. Bartlett was defeated by Leslie K. Morse after a campaign in which the riot April 3, that followed the attempt of Thomas Leyden to deliver an anti-Catholic lecture, came in for much discussion. Mayor Bartlett was tried recently on charges of failure to suppress the riot and was acquitted on all but one charge, which is still pending.

"BUNCHED BUYING" CAUSES FOOD TO RISE

Boston, December 5.—Hysterical, panic-stricken "bunched buying" is responsible for much of the rise in food-stuff prices, according to Federal District Attorney George W. Anderson, recently appointed to take charge of the nation-wide inquiry into the causes of the high cost of living.

"The 'bear' and not the 'bull' is the same business man of today," Mr. Anderson declared. "It is the 'bear' who is the cause of the marked increase in prices of commodities is due to acts in violation of the anti-trust laws."

He said he would confer in New York with agents of the department of justice who have charge of the federal investigation in that city and later would proceed to Washington. He was accompanied by Special Assistant Attorney General Adler.

The district attorney gave out the following statement:

"In Washington we are to have conferences with Secretary Houston, of the department of agriculture; Secretary Redfield, of the department of commerce, with representatives of the interstate commerce commission and the federal trade commission for the purpose of enabling the department of justice to co-ordinate its investigations in order to ascertain whether the marked increase in prices of commodities is due to acts in violation of the anti-trust laws."

"Meantime the public should understand that special agents all over the country are now and have been for some time past at work on this problem, that reports are constantly coming in and being analyzed. The department has under consideration the calling of a special grand jury in some district, possibly Chicago or New York, to investigate the whole subject by witnesses under oath.

"The department desires particularly to be informed of all facts warranting a reasonable suspicion of 'cornering' or attempts to control the market."

"We already know enough to say that much but probably not all of the absurd rise in prices is due to hysterical, panic-stricken bunched buying. The American business public does not know how to handle a seller's market. The 'bear' and not the 'bull' is the same business man in these times."

OPPOSE THE PARDON OF DR. McNAUGHTON

Relatives of the Late Fred Flanders Appear Before Governor Harris to Fight Prisoner's Application.

Relatives of the late Fred Flanders, for whose murder at Swainsboro, Emanuel county, June 4, 1910, Dr. W. J. McNaughton is serving a life sentence in the state penitentiary at Milledgeville, were heard before Governor Nat E. Harris yesterday in opposition to Dr. McNaughton's application for a pardon. The hearing will be continued today.

The relatives of Flanders heard Tuesday are two brothers, John Allen Flanders and Jordan Flanders, and two cousins, R. A. and G. F. Flanders, all of Emanuel county. Their statements were taken in order that they might be relieved from having to remain over for the hearing today. Present during the hearing were A. S. Bradley, Swainsboro, of the law firm of Williams & Bradley, who prosecuted the case against Dr. McNaughton from its inception; J. R. Powell and P. H. Saffold, also both Swainsboro attorneys. Bradley and Powell represent the state against the issuance of the pardon asked for and Mr. Saffold appears for the petitioner.

Treated by McNaughton.
Fred Flanders was a member of one of south Georgia's leading families, and, taken suddenly ill early in May, 1910, just upon the eve of his departure upon a business trip, Dr. McNaughton, an old friend of the family, attended him regularly until he died the following June 4. His malady never had been correctly diagnosed and was mysterious, so far as the physician professed to know.

Allegations of intimacy between Dr. McNaughton and Mrs. Flanders had been made prior to Flanders' illness, and the conduct of the couple after his death was such, according to testimony adduced at the trial, as to excite the suspicion as to the cause of Flanders' death. The body was examined, and the stomach and other organs were sent to the state chemist for examination, with the result that the chemist reported the finding of arsenic in sufficient quantity to have caused death.

Dr. McNaughton and the widow were immediately arrested, charged jointly with the murder of Mrs. Flanders by poisoning. They were jointly indicted by grand jury, but in August, 1913, the charge against Mrs. Flanders was nolle prossed on the grounds that the state admitted its inability to prove that she had had knowledge that Dr. McNaughton had been administering arsenic to her husband.

The doctor was tried before Judge Price Gilbert, recently appointed to the supreme court bench to succeed the late Judge Joseph Lumpkin, was found guilty, refused a new trial by Judge Gilbert and by him sentenced to hang.

Then the case was taken to the state supreme court on a bill of exceptions to Judge Gilbert's denial of a motion for a new trial, and there the lower court's decision was affirmed, with Judge S. C. Atkinson dissenting.

From the state supreme court the case was taken to the supreme court of the United States upon a writ of error, where the defendant lost again, the highest tribunal dismissing the writ.

Next, an extraordinary motion for a new trial was filed in McNaughton's behalf and argued before Judge E. T. Rawlings, of the Middle circuit, and by Judge Rawlings it was refused. This decision was taken to the state supreme court upon a bill of exceptions, and there refused, this time by a unanimous bench.

Prison Board Acts.
The case was then taken to the prison commission on a petition for pardon. Following a thorough going over of all of the evidence and circumstances, the commission stood divided over the case. Commissioners E. E. Davidson and L. L. Rainey voting for a pardon, Commissioner T. E. Patterson opposing it, but favorable to commutation of the sentence to life imprisonment.

In September, 1913, the application for pardon was argued before Governor Slaton, who commuted the sentence of death to one of life imprisonment.

Recently the application for pardon was renewed, heard again by the prison board, and that board's prior decision was reaffirmed—the commission again standing divided as it stood in the first instance. Now it is before Governor Harris, who is asked to grant an absolute pardon.

The governor has set the case for hearing Tuesday morning, but owing to the pressing nature of the business before the Western and Atlantic railroad commission, of which he is ex-officio a member, he was unable to devote the necessary time to it, and heard the relatives of the alleged victim of the petitioner in order to obviate inconveniences to them by causing them to spend an extra day away from home. The real argument of the case will be presented today by counsel for and against the applicant.

MRS. S. H. BEENE IS DEAD.
Her Son, E. W. Trippe, Leaves for Funeral.

E. Walter Trippe, of Atlanta, a deputy collector of internal revenue, last night received word that his mother, Mrs. S. H. Beene, of Chattanooga, Tenn., had suffered a stroke of apoplexy at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at her home and had died immediately. Mr. Trippe left at 5:30 o'clock last night for the home, and will attend his mother's funeral, which is to be held today at Cleveland, Tenn.

Mrs. Beene was 51 years old, and until a short time ago was in good health. She suffered a stroke of apoplexy, from which she did not fully recover before the second attack. Her first husband was the father of Mr. Trippe and two other sons. By her second husband Mrs. Beene leaves two sons and three daughters. All of her children survive her, as does her husband, who is one of the most prominent Baptist Sunday school workers in the south.

Mrs. Beene was a daughter of General L. K. Lawson, of Tennessee, who distinguished himself as a confederate commander during the civil war.

ROTARY TEAMS READY TO OPEN CAMPAIGN TODAY

Local Rotarians Organize on Tuesday to Raise $10,000 for Associated Charities.

Here is the way Allen D. Albert, former international Rotary president and expert in civic welfare, summed up in his speech at the Rotary luncheon yesterday the situation which the Atlanta Rotary club is endeavoring to meet by the Associated Charities campaign now under way.

"This is not a campaign to pay back debts. It is a campaign for 1917. In 1917 only half as much distress can be relieved and only half as much effort put forth to prevent its recurrence, unless we pick up the sag since 1914."

"This sag amounts to $5,600. Something like this happens in every American city between campaigns."

"The chief causes are deaths, removals, indifference and reductions. The chief remedies are new members, restorations, and increases."

"Ten thousand dollars will make a minimum budget of $25,000 fairly secure for 1917. Our job is to get this $10,000 from new members, restorations and increases. But Atlanta's budget ought to be $40,000."

Teams Busy Today.
And today, headed by Team Captains Samuel Candler Dobbs and Chevalier E. Howard, the entire membership of the Atlanta Rotary club, representing some 150 leaders in practically every profession and business in Atlanta, are actively "on the job" in their whirlwind campaign to raise this $10,000.

They will stay on the job until it is completed, both teams, comprising the entire club membership, meeting jointly at 12:30 for luncheon every day to check up the results on two blackboards and listen to words of advice and encouragement from Allen D. Albert, who remains on the job as general director of the campaign.

Large Crowds Witness Conferring of Scottish Rite Degrees of Masonry
The 14th convocation of the Scottish Rite bodies of Masonry in the Valley of Atlanta, which began Monday morning and will continue until Thursday night, has been signalized by the large crowds of brethren of the rite who have attended the sessions to witness the conferring of the degrees. The excellence of the work as exemplified by the degree staff under the direction of Charles E. Robertson has attracted a number of visitors from other valleys who are in attendance at all sessions.

Tuesday afternoon the degrees of the Chapter of Rose Croix were conferred, and Tuesday night the entire class of 61 were advanced to the 19th degree. Frank O. Miller, grand master of the Masons of Georgia, was present and was received with all the dignity and ceremony of the order.

Several hundred brethren were present at the banquet in the evening, and after a few short speeches the Scottish Rite Choir, under direction of Frank A. Cundell, delighted those present with some of their best songs.

Today the remaining degrees of the Knights of Kadash will be conferred, dinner being served in the banquet hall at 7 p. m. Brethren of the rite are all earnestly requested to be present at the banquet and at as many sessions of the degree lodge as possible.

CALL OFF CONFERENCE ON TRANSPORTATION
The transportation problems conference, scheduled to be held under the auspices of the Commercial association at Thomasville, Ga., on Thursday, December 7, has been indefinitely postponed.

This conference was to be held for the benefit of business men and citizens in the states of Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina, but on account of the fact that it was deemed expedient at this time not to hold the same, the above action has been taken.

AUGUSTA IS DIVIDED BY FIGHT OVER PAVING
Augusta, Ga., December 5.—(Special.)—City council, last night, balked again on the paving project. "Paving" in Augusta is getting to be a question hard to handle.

Five years ago, Augusta "took in" Summerville, the new city, and made it impossible to maintain Central avenue, one of the main thoroughfares. For instance, without paving, an ordinary rain there washes out great holes in the macadamized street, as the storm water comes tumbling down the hillsides.

To get the right to pave this street, and others, and require the property owners on each side thereof to pay one-third of the cost, council got a local bill through the last legislature, after a fight that upset Augusta and made two brand new factions in the politics of this city. Now, council substitutes, by a two-thirds vote, the paving there. To a man the Central avenue property owners are in protest. They want the paving done, but they assert the avenue is unusually a "public" thoroughfare, and that it should be paved wholly out of the public treasury.

To the Physicians of Atlanta

THIS IS a vital story addressed to men who know and understand fundamentals scientifically.

I SAY the physician knows—I might add that every man and woman should know the facts of this case.

IN PARTICULAR to every physician and nurse and mother it is a vital personal matter.

HALF THE BABIES are fed from bottles; few are getting milk that is like mother's milk. No food equals cow's milk in food values. But cow's milk by nature is formed for the cow's baby (which has four stomachs to digest it) and is therefore not in right proportions for the human baby's one stomach.

PHYSICIANS KNOW how to have cow's milk modified and that a whey modification is the best method; the imperfect results of home production of whey can now be avoided and a scientific whey modified milk can be put in the hands of your patients.

YOU WILL WANT IT for the baby—because by scientific analysis it is "nearest to mother's milk." The detailed analysis is on every package of this milk—which is Merrell-Soule's Powdered Modified Milk.

MILK CONTAINS $\frac{1}{8}$ Solids and $\frac{7}{8}$ water. Merrell-Soule Powdered Modified Milk is the $\frac{1}{8}$ Solids and you add the $\frac{7}{8}$ water.

THE GREAT STEP that has been taken is that the water and the solids have been separated by spraying the milk in a heated sterilized container. The solids, falling white as flakes of snow, are put into an air-tight package and delivered to you dry but fresh, clean, rich. All the solid food of milk is in this powder, which you can keep without ice, or danger, and have absolutely fresh milk at any hour simply by adding the natural proportion of water (boiled).

I WANT TO BE SURE YOU KNOW that this milk is modified by what you know as the "split proteid" modification. The proteids consist of nearly equal parts of casein and lactalbumen. The sugar value is increased to human milk standard, but we never use the commercial milk sugar with its liability to lactic acid—nothing but fresh, sweet whey is used in the Merrell-Soule Powdered Modified Milk.

I WANT YOU TO KNOW that this IS milk and not a preparation, and I will prove it to you and then let you prove it for yourself. As you know, the professional test is "Leffman's test for enzymes," and this milk put to this test acts exactly the same as fresh milk. IT IS "LIVE" MILK.

I WANT YOU TO KNOW that this milk is from inspected dairies.

I WANT YOU TO KNOW that before an ounce of this powder was used, we had spent years studying it; that the best science of milk products afforded by this country and Europe (especially Germany) was secured; that a special laboratory has been maintained and IS yet, with ethical authorities in charge; that we know it is right.

I WANT YOU TO KNOW that prominent physicians and hospitals are using it—that nurses have found it a saving help in times of sore need.

I WANT YOU TO KNOW not only that we know but that we are ready to help—that we will prove anything and all we have said—anywhere you say—in your office if you wish—if you will make an appointment; that we have a specialist who will call on you if you like; that we have a Graduate Nurse to advise with your nurses on request; that we will supply you any further details, answer your queries, and supply you with sample packages to demonstrate to your complete satisfaction—or Merrell-Soule Powdered Modified Milk may be purchased at

THERE is no other milk so near like mother's milk—therefore none so good for the bottle baby—and I want Physicians to know that I stand behind this powdered milk and so does my firm, with all its resources and with its fifty years of reliability. But best of all, science and absolute accuracy stand behind it for your guarantee and for the baby's protection.

Another significant feature resulting from the local market was the fact that the volume of transactions barely amounting to 950,000 shares. This is the first full session since the crash of 1929 in which total has not exceeded one million shares by a liberal margin.

There were a number of issues accompanied by a mixture of advances and declines. The grade rails were again in high favor, with the new and old issues of Wheeling and Lake Erie advancing 10 points, while the issue with as much or more for Toledo, St. Louis and Western and Chicago and Northwestern advanced 10 points. Wisconsin Central, Texas and Pacific and Western Maryland averaged one point.

United States Steel moved within a point range, closing at 126, a net loss of 10 points. The new issue was more irregular. Bethlehem Steel losing 10 points. Munitions and equipment issues were mixed, according to reports of new war contracts, but motors, Chandler excepted, were under the gun.

Utilities as represented by Ohio and Indiana Gas, Chicago Edison, Detroit Western Union, Montana Power and Western American, American Woolen and American Paper, were all in the strongest of the specialties in their respective classes, and Barrett company, the largest of the group, advanced an extra 10 per cent dividend.

Bonds were irregular, with further declines in the foreign group. Total sales, par value, $4,925,000.

United States bonds were unchanged.

Some months ago the head of a great New York bank said to me:

"Mr. White, doesn't your firm find it increasingly difficult to sell bonds and stocks of the railroads and public utilities under the prevailing conditions? Taxes are increased, coal, steel and supplies are at top prices and mounting higher; wages are up, hours of service down, and efficiency diminished. On the other hand, income is limited by commission regulation. Unless these conditions change the result must be less net earnings, decreased dividends—sometimes vanishing altogether. Many of the stocks of the railroads are selling today at one-third to one-half of the prices prevailing ten years ago. On the other hand, the stocks of industrial, like steel, copper, etc., have risen in market value 100 per cent. to 1000 per cent. in the last ten years because, notwithstanding the increased cost of production, these companies can sell their product at correspondingly high prices including a generous profit to themselves. Their great earning power is reflected in the market prices of their securities.

"There is one industry, however, that tops them all in earning power. That is the chemical industry. Little is said about it, and its stocks appear to be in the hands of a few men, very rich men. Look into this industry, Mr. White. I think you will find it worth while."

I asked The Standard Statistics Co., Inc., to look up the chemical industry. A synopsis of their report is submitted below.

ARCHIBALD WHITE

"Salt and sulphur and coal are the foundation of the chemical industry. Salt is found in 14 states, sulphur in at least 15 states, and coal in 21 states. The United States has the cheap raw materials and should defeat any nation in competition for the world's trade.

"Upwards of half a billion dollars is invested in the chemical industry in the United States, and its products rank in quality and value with those of England and Germany. The profits are unusually large.

"Below we present in convenient form a summary of leading concerns in the most important branches of the industry—acid, alkali, coal tar products:

Grasson Chemical Company
Established 1837 in Ohio

Product: Acid, heavy chemicals and spelter. Eight factories.

Capital Stock: Preferred, $3,225,100.
Common 12,648,000.

EARNINGS: IN 1915 88% ON COMMON STOCK; ESTIMATED FOR 1916 OVER 100%.

General Chemical Company
Incorporated 1899 in New York

Product: Heavy chemicals and sulphuric acid. Plants in all states.

Capital Stock: Preferred, $15,207,300.
Common, $13,110,000.

EARNINGS: IN 1915 ABOUT 45% ON COMMON STOCK; ESTIMATED FOR 1916. 90% TO 100%.

The Barrett Company
Incorporated 1903 in New Jersey
(then known as American Coal Products Company)

Product: Coal-tar products, ammonia and its compounds.
Over 40 plants, located throughout the country.

Capital Stock: Preferred $4,569,700.
Common, 11,298,200.

EARNINGS: IN 1915 OVER 20% ON COMMON STOCK.
ESTIMATED FOR 1916 30%.

Product: Caustic soda, alumina, lye, zinc and calcium chloride, sulphates of copper and iron, and acids.

Plants at Greenwich Point, Philadelphia, Natrona, Pa., and Wyandotte, Michigan.

Capital Stock: $7,500,000.

EARNINGS: PAID DIVIDENDS OF 12% PER ANNUM FOR OVER 40 YEARS

Dow Chemical Company
Incorporated 1897 in Michigan

Product: Chloride of lime, magnesium, bromides chloride, chloroform, sulphur chloride, phenol and caustic soda.

Factories are located at Midland and Mount Pleasant, Michigan.

Capital Stock: Preferred, $1,500,000.
Common, $1,500,000.

EARNINGS: PAID 185% ON THE COMMON STOCK
SINCE SEPTEMBER, 1915.

Owns the largest sulphur mine in the world, near Lake Charles, Louisiana.
Capital Stock: $200,000 par value.
Market value over $24,000,000.
EARNINGS: PAYS DIVIDENDS AT THE RATE OF 2250% PER ANNUM (Boston News Bureau).
The stock by court appraisal was recently valued at $12,003 per share, the highest priced industrial stock in the world.

"Before 1914 the annual dye output of the United States was only 3300 tons, in the manufacture of which only 400 people were employed, and the United States had been importing annually 25,000 tons of artificial dyes of which 22,000 came from Germany. Germany produced 72% of the world's supply.

"The war disclosed with startling suddenness that vast American industries wholly and partially dependent upon dyestuffs were without a source of supply.

"Dyestuffs were sought in all parts of the world. Fabulous prices were paid to relieve the famine and to enable textile establishments with a capital of $1,841,242,131, 915,858 employees, and an annual production of $1,634,636,499, to continue operations. The other industries vitally dependent upon artificial colors—leather, paper, paint and ink, and lesser trades, feathers, furs, book-binding, woodwork and wall papers totaling over 10,000 establishments, employing more than 1,000,000 operatives, and producing $1,750,000,000 of goods every year—were acutely affected, and are not yet able to meet the demands of their customers.

"There is no mystery in the manufacture of dyes. Practically all important formulae and processes were patented and the patents have expired. The 'secrets' of the German dye monopoly are public scientific knowledge and may be examined at will in our Patent Office at Washington.

"The time limit on practically all of the useful patents has long ago expired. Many of them died with our grandfathers. With two exceptions the widest range of dyestuffs with respect to color, fastness and adaptability to all fibres is open to American manufacturers unhindered by any patent restrictions."

"Coal, salt and sulphuric acid are more abundant here and cost less than on the Rhine.

"Congress has just placed a protective duty on dyestuffs.

"There is no reason why America should depend upon Germany for dyes and chemicals and there is every incentive for the establishment of an American chemical industry which could compete successfully with the world.

Jackets' Superb Defense Proven by First Downs Scored by Opposition

By Dick Jemison.

"A strong defense makes a strong offense" is a statement that has been attributed to one of the leading football men of the country. He must have had the Tech Yellow Jackets in mind when he said that.

The Jackets boasted of the strongest defense any Tech team has ever shown and the equal of the defense of most any eleven the south has ever seen.

In only the games where the second string men were used considerably was the opposition able to register first downs in the double figures, while whether first or second-string men were playing, the Jackets ran up a big number of first downs on the opposition.

Tar Heels Best.

The North Carolina Tar Heels registered the most first downs on the Jackets, scoring 14 of them, 12 by their own ability and two via the penalty route. The Jackets, while the Olive and Blue scored 10 on their own hook. There were no penalties in the first game when the Jackets had a string of second-string men, eight in all, in the game.

Tulane came next with ten first downs and, as was the case in the Carolina game, second string men did the bulk of the defense of the Jackets and all the regulars were given a rest towards the close of the game.

The statistics on the first downs scored by Tech in the Mercer and Cumberland games are not available, but it is safe to estimate that they registered 25 against Mercer and 40 against Cumberland when the score is considered.

The Statistics.

Using these estimates for the first two games, we find that the summary of the first downs made by the Jackets during the season show:

Against Mercer, Tech registered 25 first downs, while the Baptists were able to get but two and both of these were the result of successfully worked long forward passes, the Baptists trying many and working but two.

Cumberland failed to register a single first down during the game by rushing the ball. They got three altogether, one in the first period, one in the second, one in the third, and one in the fourth period, but due to successfully worked forward passes.

The total shows that the Jackets registered 14 first downs, 10 from penalties during the campaign against 41 first downs, nine on penalties for up to a total of 50 on the Jackets.

Some defense!

PITTSBURG UNDEFEATED FOR TWO CAMPAIGNS

There is no disputing Pittsburgh's claim to championship recognition. For two seasons the Panthers have not been beaten, and the records show that they are playing as consistent. In two years Warner's machine has run up a total of 502 points, while the best opposition could count was 52, and one-half of this number was scored each season.

The Navy has been the only team able to score heavily against Pitt, the Middies being responsible for 31 of the 52 points. Against Penn and Penn State this year the Panthers showed even better advantage.

Pitt's two-year record without defeat follows:

Record for 1915.

Westminster 32-0
Navy 47-12
Indiana 45-0
Penn 14-7
Allegheny 42-0
W. & J. 37-0

Carpentier and Willard Matched for Title Bout

New York, December 5.—Tentative arrangements for the appearance of Georges Carpentier, the French heavyweight champion, in a local boxing arena for the benefit of a French war relief fund are expected to be completed within the next 48 hours.

Both Carpentier and Willard have given their verbal consent to the proposals of the promoter, who has conducted his negotiations with the French champion through the members of the American Fund for French Wounded. It was necessary to obtain the assistance of this association, which was to get a furlough from the French army.

Leave For Carpentier.

It is understood the French authorities have agreed to give Carpentier leave of absence in view of the fact that the boxer has expressed complete willingness to donate his share of the proceeds to the relief fund.

Contracts between Carpentier, the officers of the American Fund for French Wounded, and one of the first down being due to a penalty. TOTAL ALLIED LOSSES ESTIMATED 15,100,000

Figures Are Credited by Berlin to Copenhagen Research Society.

Berlin, December 5.—(Via Sayville.) The total losses of the entire war have been 15,100,000, according to figures given out by the Association for Research into the social consequences of the war, of Copenhagen, as quoted in an Overseas News agency statement today. "Of this number," says the news agency summary, "the great Britain has lost 1,200,000 men, Russia 5,500,000, France 3,700,000, Italy 800,000, Serbia 400,000, Belgium 250,000 and Rumania 200,000. "These figures admit of curious conclusion. Thus, the losses of Serbia, Belgium and Rumania are three-quarters those of the British, and as in the Rumanian losses only those of the first two months are included, these three small nations have in fact made sacrifices as large as those of the great British empire. Italy has suffered already losses equal to two-thirds of those of the British, although she entered the war ten months later than Great Britain. The French losses are about twice as great as the British and form almost one-quarter of the total.

WAX TO BE CONFRONTED BY A NUMBER OF WOMEN

New York, December 5.—Charles H. Wax, who, according to federal authorities, has admitted he is the long-sought "Oliver Osborne," wanted here to clear up a $250,000 breach of promise suit against James W. Osborne, prominent lawyer, arrived here tonight from Chicago in custody of United States deputy marshals and was locked up in default of $50,000 bail. He was held as a "material witness in a criminal case."

If Wax proves the original "Oliver Osborne," he will be used as a witness against Miss Rae Tanner, her lawyers and others, which resulted from Miss Tanner's breach of promise suit against James W. Osborne. Miss Tanner during the suit identified James W. Osborne as "Oliver Osborne." Wax will be confronted tomorrow by a number of women, who, the authorities allege, a man of his description courted them under various names and in some cases swindled them. Police officials announced today they had received a message from the state penitentiary of Oregon to hold "Oliver Osborne," stating they believed he was the man sentenced there in 1913 for forgery and who escaped.

GERMAN WAR METHODS DENOUNCED BY POPE

Holy Father Condemns Air Bombardment of Open Cities and Horrors by Sea.

Rome, December 5.—(Via Paris.)—In his allocution delivered before the secret consistory here yesterday Pope Benedict denounced the aerial bombardment of open cities and condemned all those who, he said, had defied the laws of God and man in the present war. The pope said: "It is well to recall, aside from the laws of God, that if even the law of man was obeyed at present peace and prosperity would reign in Europe. If we neglect or disdain laws and authority, discord is the sure result. This is the highest social law. As a result of ignoring this law we see every principle of right violated in Europe, acts committed in defiance of the laws of God and man, peaceable citizens and even young boys taken from their homes to fight against the tears of wives and mothers, we see open cities and defenseless inhabitants exposed to aerial attacks and we see by sea and land nameless horrors. I cannot but deplore again these crimes and condemn all those by whom they are committed." The pope concluded his remarks with a prayer that as the new code of canonical law would mark a more tranquil epoch for the church, so also the time might come when the spirit of law might again be respected in the world and bring harmony and prosperity to the nations.

MORTUARY

Dr. O. P. Lunday, Albany.

Albany, Ga., December 5.—(Special.) Dr. Oliver P. Lunday, who died here last night after an illness of three months, is believed to have been the oldest licensed druggist in Georgia. He was in his seventy-eighth year and most of his life was spent in Albany. He was a native of Screven county, and served in the Confederate army throughout the war. Veterans carried the body to its last resting place at Fernwood.

Dr. Lunday is survived by his wife, but they had no children.

Mrs. Julia Kootz.

Mrs. Julia Kootz, aged 51, died Tuesday morning at her residence, 699 East Fair street. She is survived by her husband, John Kootz, one son, J. H. Kootz, and two daughters, Miss Frances Kootz and Mrs. Lucy Stapp. The body will be sent to Tucker, Ga., for funeral and interment, today. Boden & Hunter have charge of the arrangements.

L. A. Rogers, Waycross.

Waycross, Ga., December 5.—(Special.) L. A. Rogers, aged 67, died at his home near here today after an illness of several weeks. Besides his wife he is survived by 11 children, one sister and five brothers. Interment will occur at Mount Pleasant tomorrow.

Nellie Willis.

Nellie Willis, the three-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Willis, died at the home in Griffin, Ga., Tuesday morning. The body was brought to Atlanta and removed to the chapel of Atway & Lowndes.

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 600 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much. Also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. The acid of grape and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take when they want to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and you don't you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Have It Done Right

In an audit of your business you want, above everything else, accuracy. You want to know all the facts.

A partial or an incorrect audit by an inexperienced accountant is often worse than no audit at all.

For accuracy, for ALL the facts, be sure you employ a firm of established reputation, that KNOWS its business. Have it done right; there is no other satisfactory way.

Mrs. Dull Demonstrates the "G-E" Electric Range

---at our booth in the Healey Building 5 to 9 p. m. each day---

We can assure you the demonstration is most interesting and instructive.

The fact that you do not own an electric cooking range at present and do not contemplate the time when you will, has little bearing on the subject, for we are quite certain, madam, that sooner or later every housekeeper will cook by electricity.

You might chalk that statement up in your memory.

You have a special invitation to visit our booth.

Mrs. Dull Demonstrates the "G-E" Electric Range

---at our booth in the Healey Building 5 to 9 p. m. each day---

We can assure you the demonstration is most interesting and instructive.

The fact that you do not own an electric cooking range at present and do not contemplate the time when you will, has little bearing on the subject, for we are quite certain, madam, that sooner or later every housekeeper will cook by electricity.

You might chalk that statement up in your memory.

The Electric Show is instructive and interesting exhibit ever staged in Atlanta for enlightening the public on modern efficiency in the home and workshop.

You have a special invitation to visit our booth.

The Superior Court of Said County—

The petition of the Dinkler-Four Hotel Company shows:

Petitioner was duly chartered by the order of this Honorable Court on the 15th day of June, 1915, and upon the same date said charter was filed and the said Four Hotel Company organized thereunder.

On the 5th day of August, 1916, through a proper procedure and order of this Honorable Court, the charter of said company was amended so that the name thereof is now the Dinkler-Four Hotel Company.

Pursuant to a resolution of the Directors of said company, on November 25th, 1916, said resolution on the same date was filed and approved by all the stockholders in meeting assembled, and the application for further change of the name of the corporation as hereinafter set out in the petition was duly filed.

The said Dinkler-Four Hotel Company, acting pursuant to the said resolution, does petition this Honorable Court to change the name of said corporation to the Dinkler-Four Hotel Company, and that instead of being the Dinkler-Four Hotel Company the said corporation will be Dinkler Hotel Company.

A certified copy of said resolution is hereto attached, and made a part of this paragraph, and marked "Exhibit A."

Petitioner prays that this petition be filed, published and recorded as required by law, and that the change in said corporation be granted as prayed.

ATTEST: J. A. MAYNARD, Attorneys for Petitioner.

"EXHIBIT A"

"Upon motion, duly seconded and carried, the officers of the Company are authorized and directed to secure an amendment to the charter changing the name of the Company from Dinkler-Four Hotel Company to Dinkler Hotel Company."
